Village Wins Round In Sidewalk Battle

CREVICE in Evergreen pavement has been opened up by village workers to move a hydrant. Removal is part of downtown street widening program. In the hole is Anthony Di Carlo. Handing him a tool is Herb Luehring as Paul Tossman supervises.

Residents Plan New Complaint

Three Arlington Heights property owners have lost the first round in their judicial battle with the village on installation of sidewalks.

Circuit Court Judge Thomas E. Kluczynski Friday denied a temporary injunction that would have restrained the village from enforcing an ordinance requiring the home owners to put in sidewalks.

AFTER HEARING arguments, the court found that "at this time granting of a temporary injunction is not warranted by the record."

However, Gerald M. Chapman, 903 N. Kaspar, attorney for the plaintiffs, said the matter was far from closed.

"The path is now open for us to push for litigation of the issues," he said.

Chapman's strategy will be to file an amendment to the original complaint that he hopes will lead to a test of the validities of village ordinance on sidewalks.

He said he may take the legal step this Friday.

"What we can do now is to let the village install the sidewalks. Then when they bill us for costs, we will be able to contest the matter. We intend to question whether the village has the legal right under the ordinance, to levy the special assessment," Chapman said.

EVEN IF Chapman's group wins its battle, the court ruling will not create chaos in other sidewalk disputes.

The board passes a special ordinance for each street, Chapman explained. A victory for his group would upset only that one particular ordinance.

Originally, nine home owners in the Ridge-Park area of Arlington Heights challenged the sidewalk ordinance.

The issue was taken to court by James R. Blizzard, 903 N. Ridge; Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Jones, 835 N. Kaspar, and Mr. and Mrs. George W. Thompson, 1020 N. Kaspar. However, Chapman is a property owner in the same area and would have to install a sidewalk under the program. Cost to each property owner has been estimated at $350.

Herbert Van Driel, Mt. Prospect druggist, is telling his friends that Paddock does not have the only good paper in the United States. He is referring to the Appleton Post-Crescent daily paper for Appleton, Neenah and Menasha, Wis. His son, Herbert, is on the editorial staff.

A copy of the Wisconsin paper brought to our desk convinces us that Mr. Van Driel has reason to be proud of the journalistic job his son is performing, who is fortunate to have a part in such an outstanding paper.

This week's Way Back When tells us that the population of Palatine township 50 years ago was 2270 and that the total children of school age in the nine school districts in the township was only 370.

If our memory serves us right, the majority of those school pupils carried lunch pails and became strong and healthy without the present day "physical education." Perhaps it was because there were no school buses.

Today the school census of the township (between the ages of 6 and 21) is 5,405 — no lunch pails.

Last Saturday we sat on the reviewing stand of 698th Missile Battalion at Fort Sheridan. Fifty years ago the 1st Cavalry mounted regiment stopped overnight at Wheeling on its way to 10-day encampment at Fox Lake.

In 50 years motors have replaced the horses and the Nike has replaced the outmoded missiles.

Within those 50 years there have been three wars and threats of another. Oh, for a return to the mounted cavalry and hitchhiking foot soldiers — and PEACE.

Fifty years ago the Arlington Heights Herald predicted a sewer system, a full-fledged high school, and new Methodist and Presbyterian churches. The high school now numbers two; both religious congregations have twice built new places of worship.

What are the next 50 years to bring forth?

Lake Michigan water is really on the way for Des Plaines, Mt. Prospect, Arlington Heights and Palatine. A telegram received Monday from Marguerite Stitt Church reads that Uncle Sam has given the project his $50,000 blessing for preliminary plans.

The telegram placed the ultimate cost at $18,520,000. We wonder how the last $20,000 will be spent.

We wish that every realtor developer, every zoning and municipal board member could have listened in at a briefing of the serious drainage problems in School District 56 last Thursday night.

Officials of the Metropolitan Sanitary District, State and County Highway Departments, Cook County Board of Health and the County Zoning Board were present in response to a request from this newspaper.

Residential developments not only contribute to school financial troubles, but also to wrecking of original farm drainage which ruins operation of septic tanks.

There were two possible answers, the requirement of a complete sewer and drainage system in every subdivision, or open ditches along every road. The soil percolation test does not mean a thing when original farm drainage is disturbed.

Critical Drainage Problems

County, Local Agencies Can't Help Forest View

Cook county does not have a department to handle the drainage problems of the unincorporated communities spread across its hundreds of square miles.

That, in a nutshell, is the answer received by one of those communities south of Arlington Heights from a group of county and state officials at a meeting Thursday.

THE NEIGHBORHOOD, known as Forest View, is a thinly-settled area of about one square mile stretching south from Central rd. to Algonquin rd., between Arlington Heights and Busse rds., excluding the Hatlen Heights area.

Paddock Publications sponsored the meeting at the request of a citizens' committee and the county health department to "get some answers" as to what each agency can do to relieve the area's drainage problems.

The problems, as outlined by committee chairman Harvey Klehm, are two-fold: surface water accumulates in ponds and yards because a 20 to 40-year-old system of farm drainage tiles isn't adequate for the run-off, and the standing water in turn keeps septic tanks from operating properly.

COMMENTS FROM residents at the meeting indicated that at least several dozen of the roughly 100 families in the area have trouble with malfunctioning septic systems.

Donald Heck, who lives in a small subdivision near Golf and Arlington Heights rds., told of his problem:

"At least half of the time during the past year my septic system hasn't been working. When you have small children and aren't able to wash diapers, things get pretty bad. I'm lucky my parents live nearby."

Explaining why their agencies are not equipped or otherwise unable to dispose of the surplus rain water in the area were representatives of the county health department, state and county highway departments, Metropolitan Sanitary district and Weller creek drainage district.

A SUMMARY of the explanations, in that order:

Dr. John B. Hall, chief of the county health department and his sanitary engineer, Robert de Jonge: Our department is able only to force people to fix their septic tanks when they are not working correctly and to halt new building when the ground is not suitable for septic systems. But it is not our job to put in drainage sewers.

John L. Thomas, Illinois division of highways: The state maintains highway drainage ditches and builds culverts to allow storm water to pass from one side of the highway to the other. But the state can't justify building a large drainage sewer along Golf rd. to drain a residential area.

William Lynch, drainage engineer for the county highway department: The county highway department is responsible for making sure that highways do not impede the natural flow of runoff water across highways, not for constructing sewers to carry the water to a creek. That's what you have a local drainage district for.

John A. Ricker, attorney, and Don R. Brown, hydraulic engineer, of the Metropolitan Sanitary district: The chief function of the district is disposing of sewage and we are just now getting into the drainage field. The Forest View area could, however, form a local sanitary district, build combined sewer to carry sanitary wastes and storm water and connect to a Metropolitan district sewer.

James B. Monahan, engineer for Weller creek drainage district: This drainage district was organized 40 years ago to take care of draining farmland. It does not have the taxing power to finance the type of drainage facilities needed in an area built up with homes.

DESPITE the generally unsatisfactory (to Forest View) tone of the explanations, not all was dark. Klehm said a part of the flooding problem could be alleviated if the state highway department would relocate a culvert under Arlington Heights rd. He and his committee will work on this short-range plan and also try to persuade the highwaymen to install a storm relief sewer along Golf rd. from Arlington Heights rd. east to Weller creek.

The committee of 10 residents at the meetings showed little enthusiasm for the long-range solution suggested by Monahan—formation of a district to install a sewer system in the area. That would solve the problems permanently.

It would also cost the residents of Forest View a sizable amount of money.

As Monahan observed: "Most of these drainage problems are easy to solve technically. The problems always come down to one thing—money."

Water Commission Gets Federal Aid

A federal government agency has advanced $50,000 to finance preliminary planning for a project that would supply Lake Michigan water to suburban areas.

REP. MARGUERITE Stitt Church notified Paddock Publications this week that the Communities Facilities Administration of the Housing and Home Finance Agency had approved the $50,000.

The money will be used by the DAMP water commission which, in turn, will hire an engineering firm to draw up plans and specifications for the proposed subject.

DAMP—so named because it is composed of representatives from Des Plaines, Arlington Heights, Mt. Prospect, and Palatine — is the group formed in 1955 to seek ways of relieving the water shortage in the northwest suburbs.

DAMP submitted a proposed project to the government agency that would cost an estimated $18,520,000. Money for the project would be raised in a revenue bond issue and the $50,000 advanced this week would be repaid the government.

ROBERT E. ANGLEY, Palatine, chairman of DAMP, said this week that Consoer-Townsend Associates would be retained to draw up a comprehensive study of the water situation.

"The report won't be conclusive," Angley explained, "but it will be sufficient to use as a base for a bond issue.

"Of course, the first thing that must be done is to present the engineering report to the legally constituted boards in the four suburbs. They are the ones who must take action."

Angley estimated the engineering report would be ready this fall.

Trustees Approve Budget, Consider Police Station

When is a final decision final?

Arlington Heights' village board, in a special meeting Monday night, approved a revised budget which had no provision for new municipal buildings, and then turned around and authorized J. Ward Wright, acting Village manager, to get bids on a possible police station.

THE HASSLE over a new village hall, which has occupied space in the board meeting minutes for many months, appeared to be ended when a stamp of approval was put on 1958-59 fund allocations as presented.

The revised edition of the 14-page appropriation ordinance, which took attorney Stephen Jurco's auctioneer voice 20 minutes to relate, cut $65,763 from the municipal buildings fund, money which was to begin work on a new hall.

Trustee Frederick A. Weber surprised everybody by announcing his feeling that the cost of remodeling the old hall was a bit high and that he felt someone ought to find out what it would cost to build a police station.

Reseating themselves, the trustees gave the matter consideration and decided to take bids on a building, if it didn't cost anything to get bids. Wright was appointed to do the window-shopping.

WEBER FELT THAT there was no need to remodel police quarters in the hall if, in time, the necessity of a new station is a certainty. This, of course, was not a new idea. Those supporting the construction of a new hall had used this argument all along.

Besides the dropping of about half of the municipal buildings' initial allotment, little else was done to the $1.6 million ordinance. Water and sewer fund was cut $19,405, but the fire department, street department, and engineer funds were increased by comparitively small amounts.

Result was a $16,000 cut from the original ordinance figure of $1,664,301. However the final sum is still considerably above last year's budget, which was less than $1 million.

Dollar Days Set For Arlington Hts.

The Dollar Day sales at the other stores will be a 2-day affair — Monday and Tuesday.

Participating stores are:

Westgate Park and Shop, July 31, Aug. 1, 2, 3, 4.

Dutch Elm Talk Slated Tuesday

A leading Illinois authority on Dutch elm disease will speak in Arlington Heights Tuesday.

Dr. Richard J. Campana, assistant plant pathologist of the Illinois Natural History survey, will advise the northwest suburbs on how to combat the blight which threatens elms in every area community. He will speak in the gymnasium of Arlington high school at 8 p.m.

His appearance will be sponsored by the Arlington Heights Lions club. The club urged residents and village officials of all northwest area communities to attend the meeting.

During the past month there has been a huge increase in the amount of Dutch elm disease in the north and west suburbs. The number of confirmed cases in Arlington Heights is almost double last year's eight cases and specimens from 84 suspected trees were sent to the testing laboratory of the Natural History survey last week.

HOFFMAN ESTATES last month discovered its first cases of the blight and nurseymen have found diseased trees in Prospect Heights, both communities which had not previously reported any cases of the infection.

Palatine, Mount Prospect and Arlington Heights have reported cases of the disease since 1956 and have had preventive programs in effect for two years.

Park Service

The National Park Service now contains 181 areas, from Acadia in Maine to the Florida Everglades, and from Mt. Rainier to the Channel Islands.

Donati's Comet

The best known comet of the 19th century was Donati's. It had a tail that reached half way across the horizon; it appeared in 1858, and it will probably be seen again about 2058.

Jack Sipe's Column

Why Not Locate University In Northwest Suburbs?

by JACK SIPE

It's standard practice for newcomers to introduce themselves and that's just what I had a mind for this opening column. But an urgent matter has popped up.

Perhaps delaying the formal introductions is a good thing, anyhow. It's probably best to wait and see how this author's efforts are received.

Now, for the urgent matter.

It's an idea that — if accepted and achieved — could transform this "gold mine" area to "diamond mine" status.

You've heard that the University of Illinois board of trustees is looking for a site for a four-year Chicago branch. They chose the Miller Meadows site in a western suburb but were brushed off. Then the city of Chicago put on its usual "heat" to get the college built in the city.

At the moment they're talking about incorporating it in a rehabilitation project of the Fort Dearborn type. That's all talk-talk as far as I'm concerned. They'll still be talking about projects like that when I'm too old to give a darn.

Now, here's where we fit in.

A GROUP of inspired business and civic leaders in the northwest suburbs should develop a crash program and obtain that four-year university for our area.

And I've got the exact site in mind.

Think of the vast possibilities. Business would boom in all categories, our property values would increase, there would be construction galore. What's more this wouldn't be an overnight pump primer. It would continue to grow for years to come.

If you let yourself dream a bit you can imagine rows of sorority and fraternity houses, a big athletic plant, many buildings for academic uses, homes and apartments for faculty members, dormitories for students and so on.

Then, dreaming more, you can envision such a setup forcing the Chicago Transit Authority to run a spur from its projected line to O'Hare Field that would connect direct with the campus.

COULD ALL THIS be done or are we too late?

I think it's possible, but with a dynamic change.

The stroke that might sway the trustees is this:

A presentation of the land free to the trustees for college use.

That would entail a lot of quick effort in raising the funds, purchasing the site and neatly tying the whole thing in a package.

By now, you've wondered if I'm cuckoo?

I'LL NOT TRY to make you see the vast possibilities of the idea. Nor will I attempt to anticipate your objections.

It would be much better if some real sharp, energetic individual grabbed this immediately and rushed into action.

Now, about the site.

There are two golf courses on the eastern edge of Arlington Heights that contain sufficient land, are ideally situated on highways, are close to developed communities and—most of all—are virtually tailor-made aesthetically for a campus.

Think on it—think big—and boy I'm hoping someone will act.

Youth, 14, Admits Lewd Phone Calls

A 14-year-old Arlington Heights boy this week admitted making annoying phone calls to village housewives.

County police questioned the boy, who said he didn't know how many women he had called. He admitted making certain calls on which the police had complainants' names.

THE YOUNGSTER was released in his parents' custody. They promised to seek medical help for the boy.

The boy's admission ended the mystery of calls which asked the female recipients "to strip," "meet me somewhere," or perform various other deeds. (AF

Youths Stage Brawl at Restaurant

Stage Coach Snack Shop, 34 S. Dunton, Arlington Heights, may be prompted to change its name if patrons continue to take its title too literally.

Youths staged a western-style brawl on the restaurant premises Tuesday night. Six pugilists were involved, all but one of whom were juveniles. Four were from Wauconda, one from McHenry, and one from Chicago.

FIGHT STARTED when one youth made inquiries about his sister, who supposedly was out with "the wrong guy."

The brother and his accompanist, who claimed to be the girl's boy friend, were booked for being intoxicated and for disorderly conduct. Four others were arrested for disorderly conduct.

A doctor was summoned to give medical attention to the losers.

Matinee Succumbs To Typical Trash

by LUKE FECK

The nationwide demise of afternoon television's only real entertainer, "Matinee," has caused a movement across the country that is not only refreshing, it is downright necessary. Housewives throughout the land who were used to at least one hour of solid live drama joined forces in a drive to bring back "Matinee."

The "Matinee" program, which NBC launched as a real service to afternoon viewers when the program was conceived three years ago, was curtly dismissed six weeks ago because of poor ratings. However, they failed to reckon with the housewives who were more selective and preferred something other than trite quizzes.

THE MAJOR networks' policy for the coming year will be to devote more and more time to filmed westerns and one shot "specials" or spectaculars. Sponsors, who are finally beginning to feel the recession in their advertising expenditures have decided to cut down hour-long live drama shows in favor of filmed shows which will continue to earn through the years on reruns.

Such was the case with Matinee, it was one of the most expensive shows that NBC turned out, but it wasn't making enough money. NBC dropped the show.

John Conte, who hosted the show, was naturally thrown out of a job. But he and his wife, Ruth, evidently are dedicated enough to try and subscribe enough money on their own to produce the show. So far more than $300,000 have flowed into the Conte coffers. This is short of their five million dollar goal, but they have succeeded in forming "Matinee" clubs throughout the country to bring back the show.

BUT THIS TREND that the Contes have started is one that could, and should, have far reaching effects upon the television industry. Maybe, just maybe, it might be possible for the networks to try to give the viewing populace a show that is not just a time filler, but entertainment. If the networks are made aware of preferences, they could try to satisfy groups that are articulate enough to know what they want and then let someone know.

As it stands now there are network officials who are paid to know what the public wants. Evidently they don't know because there is one thing that the public doesn't want--more westerns. Everything has its limit, and the cowboy limit has been reached. Now it is time for entertainment. If the networks can't fill the bill then they will find them in the highly embarrassing position of having plenty of open time in the fall. And that is the way it stands right now, no sponsor is willing to invest hard to get bucks in the uninspired drivel that is currently being produced for television. (BS

Schuman, 4 N. 134 Fisher, of Bensenville.

Reason for the suspensions was having three or more traffic violations within one year.

March of Dimes Plans New Program

The March of Dimes new, expanded program will support the public health fields of arthritis and rheumatism, birth defects and research of central nervous system disorders. In making this announcement, Robert C. Liebenow, president of Chicago Board of Trade and Cook county chapter chairman, emphasized that polio patient-aid and virus research would continue as it has in the past.

These new fields are being entered as a result of public demand, which commenced in 1955, requesting the National Foundation to continue its voluntary support efforts in the field of public health. One example of such demand was the 50th Annual Governors Conference of May, 1958, which unanimously passed a resolution urging the National Foundation to expand its services to mankind.

DR. STEWART H. Clifford, president, American Academy of Pediatrics, is among the leading medical authorities who have praised the March of Dimes new program.

The work in arthritis and rheumatism will include research into these cripplers that count 11,000,000 victims. It is planned to offer arthritis patient-aid at first only to patients through 18 years of age. This would be an estimated 16,000 rheumatoid arthritis patients receiving aid each year. This group was selected for patient-aid because the most good can be done for them and the most learned of the crippler for the benefit of all victims.

Since 250,000 children are born each year with significant birth defects (excluding birth injuries) there is much to be done in research and patient-aid in this field. In addition these congenital malformations cause the death of 34,000 infants each year who are stillborn or die within the first month of life. Initially, the March of Dimes supported National Foundation will offer patient-aid to children through 18, who suffer from the following malformations of the central nervous system: (1) spina bifida (open spine), (2) encephalocele (open skull), and (3) hydrocephalus (water on the brain).

The above conditions are only three among the 600 types of birth defects. Research will be aimed at finding the causes, means of prevention and improved methods of treatment of these malformations.

THE arthritis and birth defects patient aid will commence in 1959.

In addition to the above, the National Foundation will continue to provide assistance to the 150,000 paralytic polio victims who require patient-aid assistance. Polio research will also be continued.

Basil O'Connor, 20 year president of the National Foundation, outlined the following concept for the future of the March of Dimes. "The development of an organized voluntary force in the fields of medical research, patient care and professional education, flexible enough to meet new health problems as they arise. The heart of the new program is research."

Liebenow praised the new program for "the great medical hope it offers mankind." Liebenow also stated that, "our volunteer leaders are already notifying us of their desire to help."

The March of Dimes was founded in 1938 and made possible the Salk vaccine to prevent polio. (B8

Announce 68 Toll Collectors

The first 68 toll collectors for Illinois' new 187-mile tollway system have been announced.

Included in the group are Joseph S. Deren, 2101 Jay Lane, Rolling Meadows, and Herbert C. Knaach, 500 S. Busse rd., Elk Grove Village.

The 68 collectors will be assigned to operate two sections of the system.

ONE CREW WILL operate the 76-mile Northwest Tollway, linking Chicago and South Beloit. The other crew will take over the 30-mile section of the Tri-State Tollway from Edens Expressway to rte. 41 at the Wisconsin line. The Northwest section will open Aug. 20 and the Tri-State section shortly thereafter.

The toll collectors will start an intensive two-week training course Aug. 4. They were chosen from 350 applicants.

Extend Tax Deadline to August 8

Deadline for Chicago and Cook county taxpayers filing 1958 personal property tax schedules has been extended again to August 8.

The original deadline was June 25 but had been extended to July 25 at the request of large firms who sought more time to prepare their schedules, said County Assessor P. J. Cullerton.

JOHN BATTLE, deputy in charge of the personal property division, said filing of the schedules has been slow and that taxpayers would get another grace period, until August 8, to file without incurring the late filing penalty.

For those failing to file a schedule, the assessor has the authority to estimate the person's personal property holdings and then add 50 per cent as a penalty.

Insurance Executive Urges Stiffer Licensing Laws

"The driver's license must be earned," says Calvin Fentress Jr., chairman of the board, Allstate Insurance companies. "Thousands of traffic accidents will be prevented when realistic driver licensing and control programs are put into operation to rid our highways of chronic law offenders and accident-prone drivers."

Faster driving automatically means longer stopping distances, shorter time to react, less seeing ability and greater effort required to maneuver the car. Accident-free motorists compensate for these factors by adjusting speed to prevailing conditions, following at greater distances and signaling well in advance ADULT JAYWALKERS are teaching children a tragic habit, says the Allstate Safety Crusade. In 1957, 1,100 youngsters between the ages of 5 and 14 were killed and 45,000 more were injured in pedestrian traffic accidents.

Drinking is the No. 1 contributory factor in single car accidents, according to a 1957 study made by the Connecticut Safety Commission. Liquor was involved in 36.7 per cent of the total cases in which cars ran off the road, and during the hours of darkness alcohol was present in three out of four fatal smashups of this type.

"Young drivers properly trained now will reduce future traffic accidents, but population increases require a rapid expansion of driver training facilities," says Judson B. Branch, president of Allstate Insurance Companies. "Fourteen states already are offering financial aid to driver education programs, setting a pattern that will help provide adequate driver training courses for more high school students."

Steering a car with both hands is one of the best ways to steer clear of accidents, an Iowa State study confirms. A driver loses 40 per cent efficiency when he takes one hand off the wheel, which in emergencies often prevents him from controlling the car or avoiding a hazard.

MAKE A SPECIAL effort to give the oncoming driver a break when he's heading into the sun, the Allstate Safety Crusade urges. It's frequently harder for the other driver to see because of the glare, so give him room in any tight traffic situation.

Alcohol is an anesthetic chemically similar to ether and chloroform, according to the American Medical Association. Even a small amount is enough to slow a driver's reaction time, dull his perception, distort his coordination and impair his judgment.

Always drive slower than the speed limit in areas where unpredictable children might be playing, the Allstate Safety Crusade suggests. Be especially alert by watching both sides of the street near parked cars, schools, playgrounds and homes.

SPEED VIOLATION is the most frequent traffic offense noted on fatal accident reports, according to the National Safety Council. Three out of every ten drivers in fatal accidents violate a speed law.

Unless your help is needed, concentrate on your own driving when you pass by the scene of an accident, advises the Allstate Safety crusade. Stopping unnecessarily, slowing to a crawl or having your attention distracted only adds to the hazard and ties up traffic, especially on high speed expressways.

It's no longer eoough merely to be able to see, hear, stop and start an automobile says Edward R. Klamm, accident prevention director, Allstate Insurance Companies. Drivers also must have a responsible attitude and emotional stability.

The higher a car's speed, the less time the driver has to maneuver or stop, reminds the Allstate Safety Crusade. In split-second emergencies, too often time runs out on the driver traveling too fast for conditions.

Slate Tollway Dedication Ceremonies for August 20

Northern Illinois tollway dedication ceremonies at O'Hare field entrance, scheduled for August 20, will be sparked with a squadron of low-flying jets, a band, a stagecoach, an honor guard, 10 Lincoln Continentals, a helicopter, and a host of political and civic leaders.

The festivities will be conducted at the turnstiles between Devon and Lee st. on the tollway.

The turnstile entrance will be covered with red-white-and-blue bunting, and the center turnstile with a huge color map of the tollway.

AT NOON, GOV. Stratton's car will drive through the map, followed by the cars of nine area mayors. State Rep. John W. Carroll (R., Park Ridge) will introduce the guests at the speakers platform just inside the turnstiles.

At 1 p.m., the dignitaries will leave in a caravan for special ceremonies at Elgin. At 3 p.m., the tollway will be officially opened to the public.

Spectator stands will be built to accommodate the crowds at both entrances.

NORTHWEST suburbanites who will be part of the dedication caravan with Stratton are:

Nicholas M. Lattof, president of Lattof Motor sales, Arlington Heights, Herbert H. Behrel, mayor of Des Plaines; Richard Wessell, publisher of the Des Plaines Journal; Martin Schreiber, mayor of Barrington; Andred J. Dallstream, president of Barrington Hills Village; L. B. Paddock, publisher of the Barrington Courier; Howard I. Olsen, mayor of Palatine; Stuart R. Paddock, president of Paddock Publications, Arlington Heights; Joe Schneller, president of the Prospect Heights Businessmen's association; Edward G. Apply Now To Vote Absentee

Applications for absentee ballots for the Nov. 4 election are available in the office of County Clerk Edward J. Barrett and so are postage-free air mail cards for voters in the armed services.

The servicemen's forms may be picked up by friends or relatives. The person in service is to fill out the form and mail it back to the county clerk's office where the election department will forward an official absentee ballot.

Other voters who will be out of town on election day may obtain applications by mail from now until Oct. 30 and in person until Nov. 1.

IN THE CASE of service personnel, Barrett urges that application forms be picked up as soon as possible to allow ample time for the double exchange of mail before Nov. 4. The time element is especially important where overseas mail is concerned, he points out. Barrett adds:

"I sincerely hope that every resident of Cook county, who has a qualified friend or relative in the armed forces, will take advantage of this opportunity to assist the county clerk in the important task of helping our servicemen and women to cast their vote in the coming election."

Postal Rates 'Jump'

Preparatory to the increase in postage rates, local post offices have received a supply of 7-cent air mail stamps as well as the new 4-cent stamps for all first class mail. An extra 1-cent stamp must be affixed to the old 2-cent postal cards.

Here are the new rates: First class letters—4 cents an ounce; post and postal cards—3 cents each; airmail (not exceeding eight ounces)—7 cents an ounce; air post and postal cards—five cents each; third class mail — three cents first two ounces; 1½ cents each additional ounce.

UNCLE SAM does not expect that all their patrons will remember the new rates and therefore has lifted for two months, the usual 5-cent penalty on mail without sufficient postage. That does not mean, however, that the mail will be forwarded with insufficient postage.

Other increases will become effective within the next few months.

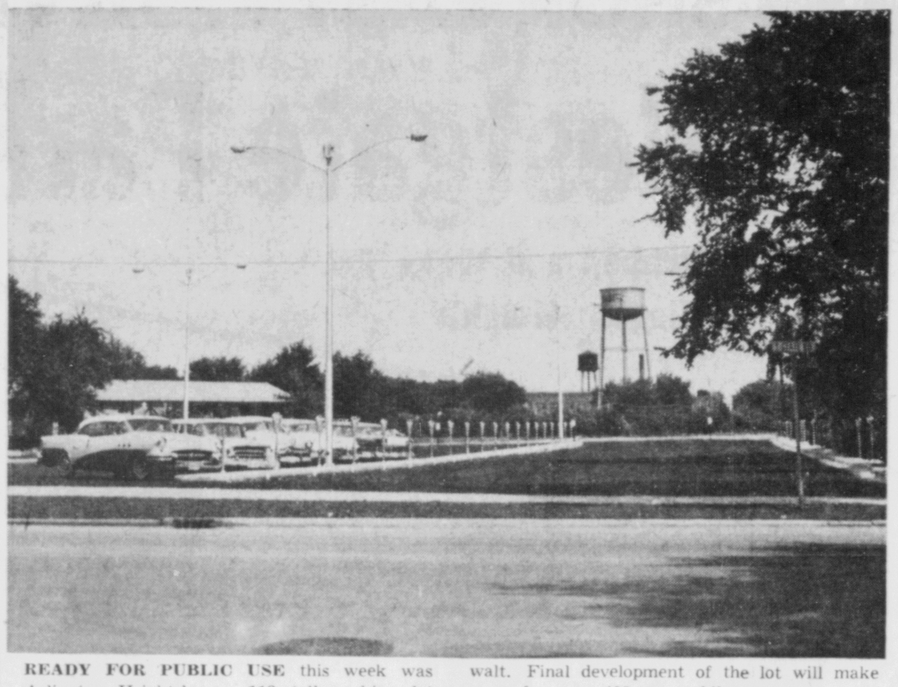
Village Ponders Financing Of State Rd. Parking Lot



READY FOR PUBLIC USE this week was Arlington Heights' new 113-stall parking lot on S. State rd. between Campbell and Sigwalt. Final development of the lot will make room for some 400 automobiles.

Arlington Heights initiated a new 110 stall parking lot this week, located on S. State rd. between Campbell and Sigwalt sts. But as cars entered the lot for the first time, village officials were becoming more aware that they will have to rely on meter receipts to finance off-street parking.

MERCHANTS WHO pledged some $20,000 towards municipally operated parking lots are yelling they were "double-crossed" and are backing down on their promises of financial aid.

Merchants claim that the money was pledged to lots which would accommodate shoppers, and the village has installed "commuter" parking meters.

As a result only about 40 per cent of the promised funds have been received, the chamber of commerce will have nothing to do with the collection of the remainder, and acting Village Manager J. Ward Wright is faced with the task of convincing everybody that shoppers can spend nickels as well as the train riders can.

ORIGINAL PLANS for the lots called for an 80 stall park between Dunton and Vail, to be used solely by shoppers. However, as requests were made for meters to accommodate store workers, and it became apparent that the lot was not going to be filled with shoppers' cars, some of the meters, about 25, were switched to the "all-day" variety.

The State rd. site eventually will park some 400 automobiles. Preliminary plans stated that 100 stalls would have "shopper meters." However, the 113 meters now installed are all of the nickel variety.

Wright said that the installation of nickel meters does not mean that shoppers cannot use the lot. "One nickel provides an hour in which to do the family shopping, an amount of time which is not always sufficient. Two nickels buy two hours, and so on. The fifth nickel provides all-day parking.

IN SUPPORT OF the nickel meters the acting village manager pointed out that the Dunton-Vail lot is practically never filled and has been a financial failure. Since its opening in December, 1956, the lot has brought home only about $4,000 to the village coffers. In comparison, the railroad commuter lots have collected $8,500 since last August.

Off-street parking has been far less than sensational in Arlington Heights. The village has invested some $250,000 in the two lots and has received little in return. The State rd. lot, of course, hasn't been given a chance yet, and Wright expects it to "boom," thanks to the nickel meters.

Support of the downtown parking has come from street meters "the only thing keeping body and soul together," according to Wright. The railroad park stalls are considered a good source of income and are more than paying for themselves.

Wright looks forward to the day when the lots will have been paid for, and everybody can enjoy free downtown parking. (AF

Women's Guild Sets Lord's Park Picnic for August 5

The women's guild of Our Saviour United Lutheran church, Arlington Heights, will sponsor a picnic Tuesday, August 5, in Lord's Park, Elgin. This park provides playground equipment, a baseball diamond, a small zoo, and is an ideal picnic spot. All women of the church and their children are invited.

HICKORY CURED . . . ?

Folks used to think rheumatism could be cured by carrying a hickory nut. Today, we laugh at these old wives' remedies. We have so many reliable, quick-acting medications now. Medical discoveries in recent years have eliminated or greatly eased untold pain and suffering. But, remember—most medicines should be used only upon the advice of your physician. When you or a member of your family become ill, see your doctor first. Then come to us for the medicine he prescribes.

Apartment Skirmish Reslated for Court

The legal skirmishing over what type of apartment buildings can be erected at State and Central rds. in Arlington Heights is scheduled for a return date in Superior court.

A fall booking on the court's calendar is likely.

INVOLVED IN the matter as it now stands is the Village of Arlington Heights and Gene Peacock, a developer from Palat

The action dates back to 1953 when plans for three apartment buildings were announced. In 1955, the disputed parcel of land found its way to Superior Court for the first time where Judge Donald McKinlay issued a court decree that three 2-flat buildings could be constructed on the property. One building would face on State rd., the other two on Central.

But before construction could be started, the developer — Leo N. Orris—asked for a change in the consent decree. He wanted to put up one building containing 32 apartments. This was rejected by the village zoning board in 1956.

NOW THE NEW developer — Peacock—is seeking a change in the consent decree that would allow him to erect three buildings containing 18 apartments in all. The locations would be the same, but each building would have five apartments and an English basement apartment.

Recently the matter came up before the Arlington Heights board of trustees and they voted to stick by the consent decree, thus forcing Peacock to drop the matter or take it back to Superior court.

This he intends to do, said his attorney, Jerome J. Sladkey.

Peacock's firm—the Lake Park Builders—hold the contract to erect the new $500,000 Baird & Warner building on State rd. (AF

Well, Well, Well...

THAT'S THE OIL BUSINESS FOR YOU

Anyone in the oil business has to be an optimist. Night and day, in deserts, on the plains, in the mountains, and even under the sea, the endless search for new oil fields continues. And even when a promising area is located, only one out of nine wells finds any oil at all. And only one in forty-four produces oil in commercial quantities!

Despite these odds, America's oil men continue to accept these costly risks. This kind of determination, encouraged by our system of free competitive enterprise, is a matter of pride on the part of all of us associated with the oil industry.

CHURCH FOLKS ARE NICE PEOPLE
Not quite all of them are, as one learns by reading the new testament. But think of all the people you know who have become easier to live with since they have become convinced church members. These have become kind, clean in thought, honest, truthful and reverent. To associate with these people is a great privilege.

Lohman Asks Revocation Of License

Revocation of the liquor license of White Stucco Inn, 706 River road, Wheeling township, has been urged by Sheriff Joseph D. Lohman.

In a letter to Daniel Ryan, county board president and liquor control commissioner of unincorporated areas, Lohman said an employee of the establishment was found guilty July 2 in Arlington Heights court of selling liquor to minors and contributing to the delinquency of juveniles. Fines totaling $200 were imposed, Lohman said. The arrest was made June 3, Lohman said.

LOHMAN requested revocation of the establishment's license on the basis of the convictions.

A public hearing into the revocation recommendation has been scheduled for 10 a.m., August 1 in Room 535, County Building. A. L. Hornick, assistant liquor control commissioner, will preside as hearing officer. (ACM

American Tourists Find Continent Embarrassing

by BILL DILLINGHAM

American tourists in Europe can get into embarrassing situations. A summer vacation on The Continent entails risks.

Take, for example, the American gentleman in Sweden who decided to have a steam bath. Friends advised him to try the famous "bastu," a kind of Swedish bath that thousands of locals visit each week.

Confident that it was basically the same as any such place in Boston, he entered the establishment. After removing all of his clothes, he was suddenly aghast to see two clothed ladies enter his cubicle.

THE SWEDISH "bastu" employs motherly women to give massages and to act as general servants. Men in Sweden, although they would not be caught in public without a necktie, find bastu-life quite proper.

In France, the state tourist department has ordered the removal of street lavatories in areas that Americans most frequent. The Champs Elysees has been stripped of these circular constructions, but other parts of Paris abound in them. The underground version of such places usually employs a woman attendant in the men's section. This has sent more than one man bouncing back to street level exclaiming to his waiting friend, "Hey, there's a woman down there!"

Many European cities display statues that are also water fountains. Sometimes these "works of art" leave the tourist red-faced. For that reason many arranged tours avoid these spots. Lone American tourists don't mind Oslo's huge park of nude statues, but when in groups with fellow countrymen, it is said to create certain embarrassment.

Visitors to Copenhagen rarely miss the National Museum. But here, faces usually grow red in the postcard department. Many people would certainly consider some of the cards pure pornography, if they saw them anywhere except in a museum. One shows in sharp detail two ancients about to rape a wee lass.

AN ELDERLY American teacher and his wife got their names in French newspapers when they stumbled into a nudist camp. It was quite a shock, they complained, and signs should have been posted.

The Ile du Levant, a nudist island lies just off the French coast. Boats leaving the mainland make no mention that it is a nudist camp. No signs can be found anywhere indicating this. The public is admitted and no membership cards are required. The American couple decided to take the 1-hour boat ride. They were awestruck upon arrival and got into trouble with the boat captain and the police for refusing to leave his vessel.

The final blow comes to tourists who get up as far as Finland and who try the "sauna," or Finnish steam bath. Unless they are prewarned, they can easily enter a co-educational bathing establishment, popular in many cities and towns.

What's Expected of Church Camp Summer Program?

by WILLIAM McGILL

What do parents expect when they send their children to a church camp, like the one in which I share each summer? The most usual indication appears to be that they and their children expect some progress in the development of swimming skills; there is some indication that children expect to be making things they can take home.

What does the church expect when it conducts a camping program for the benefit of children of its churches? There are times when it seems that some in the church expect a reported number of decisions for church membership or Christian vocations. But in our camping with children of 9, 10 and 11 years, this seems to be an unrealistic request.

SOMETIMES, THERE appears to be a feeling that the camping program should provide specific experiences in Bible study, worship or public prayer. The feeling often is that the camp is not provided to do the same things the church school does, in the same way that the church school does them.

The people involved in camping do not feel that all they do is move the church school to the woods, add an opportunity for swimming and call it a camp. To live in the world God made on a relatively simple basis is a God-given right of the growing child. In a technical society, we owe the children some experience in a simpler setting. They ought to have it on terms which allow for maximum freedom within the range of the small living-group.

We say that the most important part of our program is the Christian leadership which is encouraged to volunteer its services for this part of the Christian education program. This contribution to children's lives is difficult to measure or to offer in any specific sense.

ONE DAY, youngsters were allowed to take the Red Cross tests for swimming ability; a certain number received cards which attest their capability. But how did this person who is an "efficiency" engineer affect the lives of seven boys? And how did each of these seven boys affect each other?

This is the area in which we feel that we offer something distinctively of the church in a camping program. The heart of church camping is the living experience: a group of youngsters (small enough so they can all get to know each other well) and an adult living closely together for a time, planning their daily activities, sharing their thoughts and responsibilities, and helping each other to grow in wisdom and understanding.

IN A SENSE, it's as simple, and as profound, as that. It is an effort to set up the means for a Christian community in simplicity for a brief period, and to try to lead young people in the direction of appreciating the community and appreciating the world which was made for us to develop in.

This is part of the Christian understanding of the world, a very improtant part. We are put into the world to live in it, of course, but we are also here to develop. We are to develop our appreciations, our understandings, our recognition of the qualities which make for purposeful life, now and forever.

Student of Buddhism to Speak At Universalist Church Sun.

George B. Busch, a member of the Unitarian church of Evanston and a teacher in that church's school of religion, will address the congregation of the Countryside Universalist fellowship this Sunday morning at 10 o'clock. Stationed in the orient during the second world war Mr. Busch became interested in Buddhism and made an exhaustive study of the religion. His topic will be, "What Is Zen?" Following his presentation there will be a discussion period.

Mr. Busch is a resident of Hoffman Estates, a former president of the Hoffman Estates Home Owners' association, and assistant district commissioner of the Signal Hill district of Boy Scouts.

THE WORSHIP service will be conducted by Mr. and Mrs. Lester Mogren. Mrs. Mogren is the chairman of the Fellowship. A coffee and fellowship hour will precede the service, beginning at 9:30.

The Fellowship's minister, Rev. Albert F. Harkins, will be participating in the summer festival at the Universalist - Unitarian church in Mukwonago, Wis.

The public is invited to meet and hear Mr. Busch. Countryside Universalist Fellowship, which is the area center for liberal religion, is an affiliate of the Council of Liberal churches (Universalist-Unitarian).

OK Reciprocity Plates for Trucks

Secretary of State Charles F. Carpentier this week announced the automobile division of his office has approved 6,081 applications for reciprocity plates covering 47,927 out-of-state trucks.

In addition, 128 applications for pro-rate plates have been approved, covering 8,624 out-of-state trucks, Carpentier said.

Either one of the two types of plates is required for the first time this year to assist enforcement officials in detecting out-of-state trucks using Illinois highways in violation of reciprocity agreements. There is no fee for them.

RECEIPT OF APPLICATIONS has speeded up substantially since the start of issuance of arrest tickets on July 7 for failure to display the plates, Secretary Carpentier said.

Prior to that date, only warning notices were given, pointing out that Illinois law requires either a reciprocity or a pro-rate plate be displayed on all out-of-state trucks using Illinois highways.

Q. Is it proper, when setting the dinner table, to put the butter on one plate and pass it around, or to put it on individual bread-and-butter plates?

A. This is more a question of convenience than propriety. Usually, it is more convenient to serve the butter on individual plates than to have your guests pass it around.

Q. Is it ever correct or proper for the bridegroom-elect to be present at a shower for his fiancee?

A. No, it isn't. He may, however, put in an appearance at the end of the party, perhaps, to help his fiancee home with her gifts.

Q. Is it proper to address the envelope of a letter to a person without using the titles, "Mr., Mrs., or Miss?"

A. Never.

WHO SAID BUSINESS IS BAD?

11,000 CRYING NEEDS A DAY OUGHT TO MAKE EVERYBODY HAPPY

Every three seconds of the day . . . a baby is born! This adds up to a third of a million a month, four million every year! Each is naked, unfed, needing all of the things necessary for human existence and creating a staggering market of goods and services to be rendered.

All of these babies need food and clothing now. In a few months they will create a market for infants' toys. In a few months another need for more clothing arises. Along with this clothing need comes the need for juvenile furniture, more advanced and educational toys, and of course, the constant need for food, but by now one of a different type.

In America today, there are almost 70% more children under 5 years of age than we had in 1940. This creates a tremendous need for all of the things that children in this age bracket use, and at the same time guarantees another future market in the fast-fleeting short years to come. A market that calls for bicycles, teen age clothing, recreational activities. Later they will be driving autos, purchasing insurance, holding jobs of their own, buying properties, etc. Billions of dollars worth of goods and services are needed now, and even more in the years to come.

Money invested in advertising NOW, will insure today's progressive market, and at the same time put him in good stead for the years and the potential to come. Everything that people buy now just adds to everybody's opportunity for prosperity.

It all adds up to a $500,000,000,000 opportunity right now . . . because this staggering sum will be spent in the next few short years on the lives of these new citizens that come into the world at such a fast rate. They're outgrowing everything, they're going new places, they're ringing the bells of the nation's cash registers, increasing bank accounts as families grow, and they're taking it easy during their free time, using more recreational facilities than ever before.

So this means a tremendous selling job on the part of the businessman to guarantee himself a fair share of the $500,000,000,000.

No matter who you are . . . no matter what you sell, or service you render . . . with 11,000 crying needs a day coming into the world. . . .

WHO CAN SAY THAT BUSINESS IS BAD?

Jaycees to Exhibit Atoms for Peace

STUDENTS and adults shown above are viewing exhibits in the roomy interior of the free "Atoms for Peace" exhibit which will appear in Arlington Heights August 6 under the sponsorship of the Jaycees.

"Atoms for Peace," one of the latest exhibits of the United States Atomic Energy commission, will be shown in Arlington Heights August 6 under the sponsorship of the Junior chamber of commerce.

The free exhibit is touring the state under the co-sponsorship of the Illinois Jaycees and the National University Extension association.

Housed in a walk-through bus-type vehicle, the exhibit contains panels and models explaining the basic principles of atomic energy and its uses. Applications of this new science are illustrated in the peacetime fields of medicine, power production, industry, agriculture, and research.

A TIMELY display in the "Atoms for Peace" mobile unit is the animated panel, operated by the spectator, showing how a nuclear reactor using atomic fuel can produce heat to convert water into steam, just as a standard furnace does. The steam, in turn, activates a turbine and generator to produce electricity.

Such power reactors are already in use in the submarine "Nautilus" and "Seawolf."

The exhibit is to be located at the Dunton Court shopping center during the day and will be switched to Recreation park in the evening in order to catch the end of the Lions Olympics.

The exhibit is free to the public and is operated for the AEC by the Museum Division of the Oak Ridge Institute of the Nuclear Studies. (A DISPUTE over Chinese wall has arisen in connection with sidewalk development on Euclid. Owner Joseph Hohmann claims the village has to remove the wall, which is partially on village property at 1007 Euclid.

Village Officials Study Theatre Sidewalk Problem

Officials grappled during the week with the possibility that Arlington Heights' street - widening program might cause a safety hazard in front of the Arlington theatre.

There was no ready solution in sight. In fact, the possibility of one dimmed as interested parties dug deeper into the matter.

AT ISSUE IS a 12-foot sidewalk in front of the theater on Evergreen. Under the widening program, which is now in progress, the sidewalk would be cut to 8 feet.

Edward R. Klamm, president of the Arlington Heights Area Traffic Safety Council, said an 8-foot sidewalk would be a "definite safety hazard."

Police Chief L. W. Calderwood concurred.

"There would be nothing the police could do to eliminate the hazard if the sidewalk was cut to 8 feet. Youngsters rushing out of the movie might be exposed to a crippling or fatal accident."

Hugo J. Thal, former village attorney, expressed what apparently will become the official Arlingotn Heights attitude on the matter. He wrote a letter to Paddock Publications' "Fence Post" which, in part, said:

"THE SOLUTION should not present any great problem as far as the village is concerned. It will have to be kept in mind that public streets and sidewalks installed and maintained by public funds are not maintained to accommodate special requirements of private property owners and businesses.

"If any error is involved in this situation it was made when the building was constructed. It would seem inconceivable that the owners of the theater should build up to the sidewalk line and not leave sufficient room for the accommodation of its patrons. Even, churches and schools are not built that way."

J. E. MILLAY, member of the Board of Local Improvements which held hearings on the street-widening program, said copies of Thal's letter had been sent to members of the board.

Millay did not close the door on a possible solution, but indicated that an alteration in the widening program at this time would be difficult to achieve.

"Our board held the hearings, made recommendations to the village's board of trustees and there is where the action was taken," he said.

Millay said the Board of Local Improvements might discuss the theater matter at its meeting next Tuesday. He indicated that if a possible solution was found it would be given sympathetic consideration.

DON KNAPP, manager of the theater, said patrons of the theater had spoken in favor of retaining the wider sidewalk.

"Many people have studied the sidewalk since the issue became public knowledge a week ago," he added.

J. Ward Wright, acting village manager, said he didn't believe that narrowing the sidewalk should be a reason to "push the panic button."

"Many theaters in Chicago get along with less than eight feet. It seems to me the theater here will get along without mishap after the sidewalk is narrowed."

Wright added that the street widening contractor would not reach the theater area until September. (AF

You Can't Fool The Other Fellow

by LELAND ELLIS TRUXELL

No matter how clever one may be, he is not always able to fool other people. Most of us have a built-in sixth sense which warns us when we are being "fed a line," though none of us is fool proof, and any of us can make a mistake in appraising another person.

A hot tempered person may assume a goody goody attitude and a honeyed voice, but most people suspect that such a person has a hot temper, and avoid arousing it. The wrong word, or the wrong attitude can change honeyed words into raging torrents of scathing angry language.

THE SUAVE person, who is so perfectly mannered, who uses impeccable English and is always poised and self contained, is a type that I have never trusted, perhaps because I am none of those things myself, and envy the person who is. Some such people I have met are actually so superior that this attitude is natural with them; but generally, I have found that such an attitude is put on to domineer over other people, or as a means of hiding fear and insecurity, or in order to deceive.

Then there is the boastful, domineering person who actually has a generous heart and a kindly nature, but for some reason believes he must conceal it; and there is the sinful person who wears a pious attitude to hide the shame in his own heart, or to gain advantage of people who trust him because of his Christian attitude; the overly conscientious housekeeper who seeks by keeping her house spotless to justify her neglect of feeding the family and looking after their other needs for which she is responsible as a wife and mother; the person who feigns sickness to avoid work or gain sympathy; all these and many more can generally soon be seen through and understood by the person of normal intelligence and understanding. When it comes to what you are, you can't fool the other fellow very long, even though you may have lived a life time of deception, because in so many ways we all have the same inclinations and have practiced most of these kinds of deception ourselves at various times.

Hospital Visits Good for Patient

by PAUL ZEHNER

It's mighty important that we visit our relatives and friends in the hospital. It helps their morale and usually speeds their recovery. Doctors and hospital administrators know this.

Sometimes patients have enough visitors for an old-fashioned reunion. It's not the usual thing, but sometimes over-zealous visitors weary the patient.

Hospitals used to be more strict about visitors than they are today. Still it is best not to visit too long, and to give way to others if the patient has many visitors.

WHEN BABY comes, father should be the only visitor. The state law is strict about who may visit the mother. Everything is done to protect the baby, even to having maternity wards all by themselves.

You may have read in a recent Chicago paper of the patient in a mental hospital who celebrated his 100th birthday. During the 50 odd years in the hospital, he had no visitors, no inquiries about his health, no telephone calls. The world was shut out to him except for the hospital staff.

There is great blessing in store for kind people who will devote time to the "forgotten" patient. Hospitals will gladly inform us of patients who have no visitors.

PASTORS, PRIESTS, and rabbis make it a point to stop at the bedside of sick people. They're interested in the patients' spiritual welfare. This is a real comfort to the patient.

Most modern hospitals now have a lounge or sitting room on each floor. Patients not bedfast enjoy impressing their visitors with the great improvement in their health by meeting them in the lounge. This is good for the patient and makes possible a "homier" visit.

Hospitals are giving more thought to visitors and their comfort. You may remember a time when you drove many miles to visit a friend in the hospital. There was no parking for many blocks and if it was on Sunday, restaurants were closed and everyone went hungry.

MODERN HOSPITAL plants include more adequate parking areas. Lutheran General Hospital, now being built, plans parking for 400 cars. Resurrection Hospital has excellent provisions for parking. Cafeterias and snack bars are maintained right in the building of many modern hospitals and visitors are welcome to join the staff at meal time.

The ladies can shop in the hospital gift shop for a gift for a sick friend. Profits from such a shop go to provide even better facilities for the care of the sick.

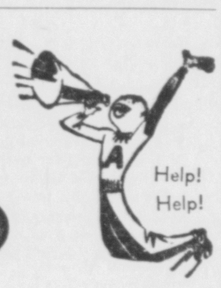
Cook County Legion Baseball Playoffs Open Saturday

WEEKS OF PLANNING will culminate Aug. 2-6 as Merle Guild Post 208 of Arlington Heights hosts the Cook County Legion baseball finals at Recreation Park. Two of the men who have had a lot to do with the arrangements for the tournament include, above, left to right, Fred Hauth, post commander, and Bill Griffith, general chairman. (Sp

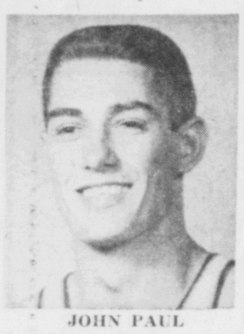
KICKIN' IT AROUND



by BOB FRISK

WE THOUGHT WE'D change the column's original format this week so instead of starting with something in general, we'll include everything in particular.

Frank G. Jones of Inverness, Ill. recorded a hole-in-one at the Glen Oaks golf club in Clearwater, Fla. recently . . . Jones gained his ace on the 85-yard No. 4 hole with a seven iron . . . Johnny Paul, former St. Edwards of Elgin basketball star and cage captain at the University of Illinois, has accepted a coaching position at Ridge Farm, a tiny school headed by Elmer Plew last winter . . . Plew has since taken over the Rock Falls club, runner-up in the state last winter . . . Paul was an All-Stater in 1954 and is rated one of the best performers to ever play in the Arlington gym.



JOHN PAUL

Dave Tremaine, a soph at Wisconsin and former All-State basketball star at Evanston, has dropped out of the Madison school to accept an appointment to the U. S. Naval Academy . . . The American Legion Junior baseball playoffs will be held at Memorial Field in Colorado Springs, Sept. 9-13 . . . Sidelined 13 days with an arm injury, Grayslake's Jay Hook, hurling for Nashville in the Southern Association, celebrated his return to duty by stopping Memphis on five hits . . . Marty Reissen, Illinois' state tennis champ from Hinsdale for the past two years, was bounced out in the quarter-finals in the Western Junior and Boys tennis tourney at Champaign . . . At Hinsdale they're already predicting possible All-State stardom for Reissen in basketball, too . . . Chuck Lindstrom, formerly of New Trier and Northwestern, is considered the top catcher in the Class B Three-I loop . . . Glenview won the state semi-pro baseball title Saturday, topping a surprising Joliet squad . . . Denny Pickett, ace southpaw for the city champion Taft high school team, appears headed for Northwestern.

Question of the week: Why did a manager of one of the Cook County legion finalists suddenly resign when the team qualified for the county finals? We hope there was a good reason and not just the fact that he was forced to resign because team officials felt he couldn't handle the squad in the playoffs. After spending all summer with the boys he at least should be entitled to handle them in the important county finals!

YOU CAN TELL football is in the air when the newspapers start devoting space to the daily workouts of the College All-Stars and Detroit Lions as the two clubs prepare for their clash, Aug. 15, at Soldier Field.

We profess to enjoy professional football a lot more than the college brand (possibly because Illinois never had a winner while we were there), but several interesting observations are made on the forthcoming collegiate campaign in the football magazines on the market. If you think it's too early to start talking football, you better skip over to the next section of this column.

One of the first pre-season college All-Americas in print is very flattering to the Middle West with the following men [illegible] Williams of Michigan State, guard Al Ecuyer of Notre Dame, halfback Don Clark of Ohio State, halfback Brad Myers of Michigan, and quarterback Bob Williams of Notre Dame.

What squads are rated as the ones to beat in '58? Auburn, one of the country's top elevens last year, is again rated a powerhouse with 23 lettermen back; Clemson and North Carolina will be tough as will West Virginia. Woody Hayes feels he has the title all but wrapped up at Ohio State but don't count out Michigan State or even Wisconsin in the Big Ten. Texas and Texas Christian loom as the threats of the Southwest and Oklahoma—as usual—will field a formidable club in the Big Eight although it may have a lot more trouble than anticipated. The Skyline title will be up for grabs while Princeton is favored to gain another Ivy League crown. Oregon State ranks as the class of the coast although UCLA could be strong. And, yes, the South Bend powerhouse of old, Notre Dame, is also in a revival period.

As far as player of the year, favorable comments have been directed toward Bob Reifsnyder, a 230-pound Navy tackle from Rockville Centre, N. Y.

Well, we've transgressed enough about football. There will be plenty of time for the gridiron sport, starting Aug. 25 when the high schools get under way in Illinois. The pro's are already going through workouts.

BEFORE A BALLPLAYER signs to play Class D ball, he should consider the following report from an individual who has been in that class all summer in the Midwest loop. And this particular performer is hitting close to .300, getting more than his share of runs batted in, and also fielding well so he should be the last to complain. But here's how he describes conditions:

"It's certainly no way to make a living. The salaries are poor and the conditions are terrible. Transportation could be compared to shipping cattle to market. We all pile in one old delapidated bus and there is one trip which takes 10 hours. The only player who enjoys any "luxury" on these trips is the pitcher scheduled to hurl the next game as he is allowed to sleep across two back seats or on the floor. The going salary rate at Class D levels runs between $200 and $250 a month but unless you hit at least .320, your chances of getting any higher in organized ball are pretty slim. They won't even look at you."

Now, you might ask why this particular ballplayer sticks it out? He isn't sticking it out. He recently officially "retired his glove."

10 Hit Attack Stops Kenny Squad, 5-3

Believe it or not, Black's Boosters backed veteran Dick Bokelmann with a five-run, 10 hit attack, and committed only one harmless error Sunday in an impressive 5-3 win over Kenny Construction.

The victory was Bokelman's second of the campaign, as compared with seven defeats, but this was the most help, both offensively and defensively, that he had gained all summer with the Boosters.

All but one member of the starting lineup for the locals garnered at least one hit and Bill Sprincz, Dick Lloyd, and Bill Sutherland had two each. Sprincz had a triple and double. Lloyd added a triple, and Dan Vittum had a double for the game's long hits.

SATURDAY Black's travels to Lake Forest for a 2:30 p.m. affair while Sunday they head for Dolton, Ill., and a 2:30 league tilt against Cavillini's.

The Boosters initiated the scoring Sunday in the second when George O'Brien laced a single to right, moved to second on a walk, and came home on Bokelmann's sharp drive through the box.

Sprincz came across with the second run in the fifth on an error but the decisive tallies countered in the seventh on hits by Sprincz, Vittum, and Bob Getts. The insurance run was the result of a single by Sutherland and long triple to center by first baseman Joe Jankers.

Arlington Playoffs Open Friday at Junior High

by BOB FRISK

World Series action, on a Little League level, opens Friday, Aug. 1, with only one question at present — who will play in the postseason extravaganza?

The league champions, as determined by playoffs between the first and second half titleholders, were not yet known at this writing so we can only surmise about the Series.

In the Major League of the Little League either the Red Sox or Yankees would meet either the Giants or Cubs in a best-of-three series opening tomorrow (Friday). Friday's encounter will be played at the junior high diamond with the Saturday tilt at Arlington Greens and Monday's contest, if necessary, at the junior high diamond again.

To reach Arlington Greens fans should go north on State road to Olive, then turn right on Olive to the park.

GARY GROM twirled a beautiful no-hitter, July 26, to send the Giants on to a 6-0 win over the Cardinals. Only two Cards reached first base — both on errors — as the Giants wrapped up the second half title.

A one-hitter, with Guy Burlingame and Steve Martin sharing duties, enabled the Cubs to earn an impressive 11-1 win over the Braves. The winners tallied eight times in the first inning.

The Pirates rocked the Dodgers, 11-3, and the Giants and Dodgers battled to a 4-4 tie when an outfielder slipped going after a fly ball, enabling two Giants to score and knot the count in the fifth.

HEAVY-HITTING, featured by 33 safeties and 29 runs, marked the Pirates-Braves tilt with the Pirates coming out on top, 15-14, and the Dodgers unloaded 12 hits in a 10-3 triumph over the Braves. In final play the Cards slipped by the Pirates 9-8, and the Giants rocked the Cubs, 7-3.

In the American League the Red Sox wrapped up the second half title with a 10-0 slate, adding a 7-1 win over the White Sox during the week. Merrill Kephart retired 13 men in a row, including nine strikeouts, and allowed only one White Sox hit. Brodnan hit two doubles and played outstanding ball in the field.

The Tigers, settled in the cellar from the outset of the campaign, wound up the season in impressive fashion, socking the Yankees, 6-4. Freddie Ball rapped a triple and scored three runs and Jim Ewert and Bob Yeazel clouted homers for the winners.

In the final games the Senators got by the Athletics, 8-7, and the White Sox bounced the Senators, 9-7.

IN BABE RUTH action the Indians have moved out to a 1½ game lead with 7-0 and 5-3 wins over the Lions and Browns respectively. Craig Quackenbush hurled the shutout, allowing only two hits, and Frank Hermes recorded the 5-3 win with a neat four-hitter.

Redlegs' Dave Brodnan just missed his third no-hitter, as he set down the Bears on only one hit, July 24. He fanned 15 and walked four for another brilliant mound performance.

But the Babe Ruth loop did see a no-hitter, July 26, when Hedberg set down the Lions, 10-2. Gregg Beckway rapped a first inning triple to provide the impetus in the Browns' 10-8 win over the Redlegs. Cliff Scholl's homer in the seventh came too late for the losers.

In the Pony League the Eagles and Phillies are waging a terrific battle for top honors with the latter on top at present by only one-half game. Results for the week are as follows: Falcons 6, Oriorles 4; Phillies 10, Orioles 1; Falcons 6, Eagles 6; and Phillies 6, Eagles 5.

Skokie Nine Slight Favorite To Advance to State Tourney

by BOB FRISK

Four powerful schoolboy squads, carrying the prestige of both the legion posts and high schools they represent, will square off at Arlington's Recreation Park Saturday afternoon to launch the 1958 Cook County legion baseball finals.

Skokie, Park Forest, Park Ridge, and Oak Park make up the four team field with Skokie rating a slight nod in the pre-tourney dope sheet.

First round games Saturday match Park Forest and Oak Park in the 1 p.m. affair with Skokie and Park Ridge clashing in a 3:30 contest. Sunday, the two losers of Saturday's contests will meet at 1 p.m. with the two winners tangling at 3:30.

When the firing is over Sunday afternoon, one team will have been eliminated in the double elimination series. Monday at 4:30 p.m. the winner of the first game Sunday will meet the loser of the second game with the victim in this match bowing out of the tournament.

Another game is set for 4:30 p.m. Tuesday at Recreation Park with a deciding contest, if necessary, set for 4:30 Wednesday. A team must lose two games before dropping out of the tourney.

SATURDAY'S late contest is a "natural" with the two legion squads meeting whose respective high schools battled in the state prep finals at Peoria this spring.

Mel Tierney Post of Park Ridge, representing Maine high school, and Skokie, representing Niles high, are slated to conclude the initial afternoon's festivities with a crucial contest. Maine topped Niles in the state championship game, but the latter will be favored this time.

Skokie has dropped only one game this summer and boasts one of the tourney's top hurlers in Ron Chez. Chez is 7-1 for the summer with an earned run mark under 2.00. First sacker Bill Ihne, a .629 hitter, is the main cog in Coach Jim Phipps' attack with catcher Barry Mink, second baseman Al Hoffenberg, shortstop Ron Lis, and third baseman Bob Klingensmith the other .300-plus hitters in the starting nine.

HURLERS JIM Humay and Rich Peterson pace Park Ridge, coached by Lionel Lightner who guided Winnetka to the national finals in 1953. Shortstop Bill Wagner and outfielder Bob Kupczak are two of the heavy swingers in the Mel Tierney lineup.

Oak Park brings a 25-3 season mark into the tournament with two right handers, Bobby Reed and Bill Hunter, heading the mound corps. Leading stickers for Coach Herb Riley's club are shortstop Bill Tomb, .475, and center fielder Marve Staehle, .404. Tomb was the leading scorer on Oak Park's Suburban League basketball champs last winter.

Bill Burghardt is in charge of a tough Park Forest nine which had a scare from Chicago Heights before capturing the eighth district title. After dominating the race early in the season, Park Forest dropped three of its last five games. Jerry Buchmeier and Larry Buchholz give this club two good starting moundsmen with Carl Schultz ready to go in relief.

CENTER FIELDER Gary Elliott is the leading hitter with an even .500 mark, driving in 13 runs with 25 hits, with shortstop Lynn Mautz and Phil Wagner next in line at .354 and .306.

Saturday evening at 7 p.m. following the first day of action, the county finalists and Arlington's Jr. Legion team will be honored at a banquet put on by Merle Guild Post 208 at the Palatine legion hall. Charley Grimm, vice-president of the Chicago Cubs, will be guest speaker.

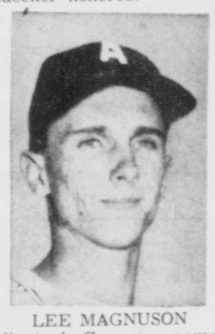
Heights Gains Four Positions On All-Stars

Arlington's strong Jr. Legion team, the only squad to knock off Park Ridge's county finalists, placed four men on the ninth district All-Stars, it was announced this week.

Lee Magnuson, Tom Grey, Keith Voight, and Don Gerken were named to the select squad picked by the coaches with Magnuson and Grey both carrying averages near or above .400.

Palatine placed Jack Nelson, Don White, Bill Dietrich, and Foster on the stars while Rolling Meadows had Erlander and Slaudecker honored.



LEE MAGNUSON

Arlington's Grey was named to an outfield post and Magnuson and Voight earned infield spots with Gerken named to the six man pitching corps. It remains a question why Magnuson, an All-Conference center fielder last spring, and probably the best outfielder in the district this summer, should be named as an infielder.

Voight, only a freshman, was selected as the best defensive infielder in the league.

In an exhibition game Sunday the All-Stars routed Palatine's senior team, 13-9 collecting five homers and three triples. On Aug. 9 the stars, under the direction of Claude Bailey and Dave Lynk, meet the Eighth District honor team at one of the latter's fields, and on Sunday, Aug. 10, they play the same squad at Hinckley field in Park Ridge. Olympics Rally, Top Merchants In 10th Inning

Des Plaines' Dick Steiner cleared the left-center field fence with two aboard in the first to give the Merchants a 3-1 lead but from then on it was a tight affair until the fatal tenth.

JOHN KILROY rapped two homers for the Merchants, and Manager Wes Kentzel added a 360 foot drive for four bases. Both Kilroy and Kentzel had three hits.

MAC SAYS

by G. A. McELROY

PALATINE'S BASKETBALL coaching situation was cleared up this past weekend with the promotion of Dick Kolze from frosh to varsity coach. A month ago Jack Fabri resigned to take an assistant position at Niles Township High School and last week was named head basketball coach of the Trojans. Fabri had handled basketball successfully 2 years at Palatine. Kolze has had 4 years experience coaching. This past year his Palatine frosh had one of the best records in the history of the school. Kolze graduated from Palatine High 10 years ago where he was an all conference center in basketball though standing only 6 feet in height. He graduated from Northern Illinois State University and has a masters degree from the Univversity of Illinois. He teaches industrial arts.

Kolze is the seventh varsity coach at Palatine since 1927. Harry Kincaid coached from 1927-31, Carl Megel 1931-35, G. A. McElroy 1935-1944, J. E. Stutzman 1944-52, "Gene" Moylan 1952-56, and Jack Fabri 1956-58. Palatine won conference championships in 1927, 1931, 1934, 1935, 1940, 1941, 1942, and 1943. It has been 15 years since the Pirates won a championship and there is little chance of one the next 2 years. Kolze will have no regulars and only one letterman next season. When the frosh he coached this past year, and the 8th graders get to be juniors and seniors Palatine will be on top. That is our prediction. A return to competitive grade school basketball is the big reason.

Palatine had 70 applications for varsity coach and hired one of the better prospects to handle the frosh for next year. Gerald "Chic" Anderson will coach freshman basketball and assist in football and baseball. Anderson has a record of 71 wins and 34 losses in 4 years varsity coaching at Somonauk and Wyoming, Illinois, including 2 holiday tourney championships, a conference title and a regional championship. His baseball and track records are equally good. Anderson is a graduate of Western Illinois State University. He will be assisted with frosh basketball at Palatine by Gary Clendenny, a beginning teacher who received his masters in guidance at Western Illinois this year. Clendenny will handle the varsity golf at Palatine. Carl Van Cleave, who assisted Fabri with the varsity last year in his first year of coaching, will handle the Palatine soph team next year. He was a varsity guard at Iowa State for several seasons. Dick Gavigan, who had soph basketball last year, has been assigned to junior varsity.

ONE OF THE coming stars of professional golf, if he decides to cash in on his ability, is likely to be Jack Rule of Waterloo, Iowa, who won the Western Junior golf tourney Saturday at Iowa City. Rule won the national junior chamber of commerce title in 1955 and the state high school title in Iowa. Earlier this summer Rule took the Iowa amateur championship. He competed on the University of Iowa golf team this past season. Bob McDonald of Mount Prospect, former Arlington star on a state championship team, advanced to the quarter-finals of the Western Junior where he was beaten by C. A. Smith, 18 year old Michigan State athlete, who was beaten by Rule in the final. McDonald is son of Pat McDonald who operates the Rob Roy golf course.

THE ALL-STAR football game at Soldier Field, August 15, will be one of the big Chicagoland summer sports events. The Detroit Lions who battle the all-stars are rated the favorites to win the western division of the national pro league again this year with the Cleveland Browns favored in the East. With such a rating and with Bobby Layne, Tobin Rote, and Jerry Reichow available as quarterback it appears that the all-stars coached by Otto Graham are in for a very rough evening come the middle of August.

Lions, Pro's Keep Winning In MP Baseball

by MARGE SIMPSON

July 22 brought a terrific game in the Mt. Prospect Little League between Builders and Country Club. Both teams played very good ball with Mutert pitching 6 innings for Builders and Stevens pitching the 6 innings for Country Club. The score at the end of 6 innings was tied, 6-6.

Simpson of the Builders came in to relieve Mutert as pitcher in the first half of the 7th. He struck out the first man up to bat and the two men following were put out by the pitcher to 1st baseman Selle.

The last half of the 7th told the tale. Simpson was first up for the Builders and he belted a terrific home run to win the game, 7-6. Winning pitcher Simpson; losing pitcher Bergan, who came in to relieve Stevens in the 7th inning. Extra Base hits: For the Builders, Simpson, a home run and a double. Bogart and Mutert of the Builders also had doubles. For Country Club: Bergan, a home run. Hope was catcher for Builders and La Rocca did the catching for Country Club.

JULY 23 Professionals met the Schwans with the Pro's the victors, 6-2. Kowal pitched for the Pro's and McClean pitched for the Schwans. McClean pitched well for the losers, not allowing any bases on balls. Kowal had a terrific home run for the winners. Tommy Snyder, playing his last game for the Pro's, hit two long balls, but good fast fielding by the Schwans held him to singles. This was a very well played game and both teams showed us they are very good ball players.

July 25. Lions took the Bruning team, 20-2. At this date the Lions are keeping pace with the winning Professional team. Koopman of the Lions pitched another fine game, allowing only 4 hits and striking out 11 men. Offensively, the whole Lion team took part in the scoring. Almost every boy got a hit with the extra base hits going to Mueller, Collins and Ryan. Mueller got his double in the 1st inning to drive in 2 runs and put the Lions ahead 2-1. After that it was all Lions except for Kuklinski of the Bruning team slugging a home run. For the Lions: Koopman pitching with Durgin catching. For Bruning: Gewecke pitching with Barger catching. WP. Koopman, LP: Gewecke.

THE FIRST GAME on July 26 was the Pro's vs Bankers with Pro's the victors 10-0. Harvey of the Bankers got 3 of the 5 hits allowed by Heinrish who pitched a beautiful game for the winners. Nau of the Pro's had two terrific home runs while Lewis got 2 line singles. Winning Pitcher: Henrich. Losing pitcher: White.

The second game was Country Club vs V.F.W. with Country Club walking away with them, 28-2. Country Club bats were really working for home runs. Stoike hit 2 of them, while LaRocco, Bergen and Vandervoort also had home runs. This was really the day for home runs and every one was a beauty. Stevens and Bergen had doubles also. Lytle was in there slugging as he had 4 for 4 to keen his average at 740. That is some slugging Lytle. Pitching for the winning Country Club team, Stoike, with Lytle and LaRocco catching. For V.F.W. pitching was done by Rogers, Hansen and Weigt with Richardson catching.

THE LAST GAME Saturday was between Merchants and Builders, with Merchants the victors, 17-3. Merchants played a very good game of ball with R. Robertshaw getting a slam bang homer. Sumner also had some terrific hits. In fact the whole team had their bats going pretty good. Simpson pitched for the Builders after relieving Zadel in the first inning. Wilkes pitched for Merchants. Brooks caught for Builders and Dahlgren for the winners. Winning pitcher: Wilkes, Losing pitcher: Simpson.

Sunday July 27 brought a terrific game between Schwans and Lions with Schwans the victors 6-2. Ron Moehling pitched a terrific game for the Schwans allowing only 5 hits and fanning 11 men. The extra base hits for the winners went to Greco who had a triple, Moehling, Mike Phillips and Busse each had doubles. Van Allen of the Lions hit a home run. Batteries: Moehling pitching with Phillips catching for the Schwans. Collins pitching with Durgin catching for the Lions. Winning Pitcher: Moehling. Losing Pitcher: Collins, who has this as his first loss of this year. (Sp

AH Minor Loops Near Conclusion Of Summer Play

Minor league baseball in Arlington Heights moves to its conclusion next week with the playoffs determining the respective champions of intermediate and junior league play.

Because of a Tuesday deadline for sports copy, no final results could be included as to the teams preparing to take part in the important playoffs but the teams in the contending slots for second half action were the Colonels, Seals, Blues, Gophers and Spartans.

The North and Southside Intermediate series opens Friday, Aug. 1, with a 6 p.m. game at Pioneer No. 2. Another contest will follow Saturday at 1 p.m. at Arlington Greens and a third, if necessary, will be staged Monday at 6 p.m. at Pioneer No. 2.

THE NORTH and Southside junior league championship game will be tomorrow (Friday) at 6 p.m. at South Park.

Hagenback and Murray rapped homers to pace the Ravens to a 5-1 win over the Solons in Southside Intermediate play, and the Dons erupted with seven runs in the first two innings, then held on for an 8-6 win over the Solons with Ainslie and Sellect clouting homers.

Wolf pitched a one-hitter, fanning 13, as the Dons clubbed the Stars, 11-3, and Johnny Meyn twirled a five-hit shutout with the Seals topping the Huskies, 14-0.

DESPITE a 10-run outburst in the second, the Ravens still couldn't check the onrushing Stars and they fell, 12-11. In the final league affair the Seals bumped the Rangers, 11-4.

In the Southside Juniors loop the Spartans moved out to a 1½ game lead with 7-5 and 3-1 wins respectively. Tom LeStarge and Tommy Epperley picked up the wins.

Buddy Sterling of the Padres hit three doubles and drove in four runs as the Padres routed the Buckeyes, 10-5, and Dave Cook rapped two homers, driving in five runs, as the Padres clubbed the Beavers, 10-3. In final games the Wrens beat the Angels, 8-7, and the Oaks, 14-13.

No results were included in the reports from either the Northside Intermediate or Northside Junior leagues.

Builders Gain 2nd Place Tie In Pony Grad

Drake Bros. Builders Pony Grad team beat Prospect Heights (2), 7-2, on July 23. Hinske and Lind combined pitched a no-hitter. Prospect Heights (2) and 2 unearned runs because of walks and fielders' choices. Timely hitting by Drake Builders, with Don Buick's 2 hits and 3 runs batted in, were enough to put the game on ice. Scanlon was the losing pitcher.

Mt. Prospect traveled to Northbrook July 23 and lost 11-5. Although Mt. Prospect held the lead most of the game, 1 bad inning accounted for its loss.

JULY 26 North Chicago went to Highland Park and stopped their challenge for first place by defeating them, 4-2. Reidel of North Chicago limited them to three hits with eight strikeouts, and Secrest, the loser, allowed four hits, striking out five.

July 27, Drake Bros. Builders played host to Highland Park for a double-header and won both games, 13-12 and 15-7. Lind was the winning pitcher of the first game with the help of Hedberg, coming in to relieve him with the bags loaded and doing a terrific job. Hedberg went on to pitch in the second game to win. He scattered 10 hits to hold Highland Park. Walks and errors contributed to the downfall of Highland Park in both games.

The timely hitting of Dennis Garofolo, Carl Massa and John Lind accounted for 10 of the 16 hits made by Drake Builders in the 2 games. The double win places Drake Bros. Builders tied for second place with Highland Park.

Schlomann Meets St. Aubin for Koehler Crown

by RAY KEHOE

White Pines "south 40," basking in a soft summer breeze, appeared to be the ideal scene for Sunday's semi-final matches in the Koehler Open Tournament. Although golf equipment of every description was in evidence at tee-off time, the 16 contestants did not realize that before long, water-wings and pontoons would have served them better. As a result, the "future book" on all contestants has been revamped to show "superior mud" marks.

Championship Flight: Vic de St. Aubin, the "Addison Whacker" playing out of the de St. Aubin's Nursery, pruned one stroke from par before the rains came, and had to settle for a final 75 in defeating Bob Geils 3 and 2. The other semi-final match in the "Blue Ribbon" flight was a give-away affair. Banker Walt Schlomann, although showing signs of "buck" fever, managed to oust Ray Kehoe by a 3 and 2 count.

"A" FLIGHT: A particularly close match was anticipated between Lornie Geils and Scott Kinnaman. Here the elements struck heavily in Scott's favor, as the "golden boy" sloshed his way to a 3 and 2 edge. Charles Bobus proved a stubborn opponent in the other "A" match, but G. Constantino reached a one up victory on the 18th.

"B" Flight: The apparent ease with which R. Westlake has been disposing of his opponents stamps him as the heavy favorite in this flight. His 3 and 2 victory over E. Kocol surprised no one. Little is known of W. Maier's skill except his convincing 6 and 5 win over D. Joseph.

"C" Flight: In eliminating Warren Johnson 3 and 2, Bill Burde experienced his toughest match. Bill's butterfly stroke proved more than Warren could handle and as the splash party ended, Burde was heard to mutter, "all right, everybody out of the pool." In the other semi-final match, Harold Schoo, with brother Willard as "cart man" and capable advisor, sent J. Cusack to the shelter 3 and 2.

Final Matches
Championship Flight: St. Aubin vs. Schlomann
"A" Flight: S. Kinnaman vs. Constantino.
"B" Flight: Westlake vs. Maier
"C" Flight: H. Schoo vs. Burde

A great deal of credit is due the management at White Pines for their efficiency in handling the Koehler Open. From the top brass down to "Harry the Hat" all contestants are being treated to privileges rarely found on daily fee courses. Such treatment can only benefit "The Pines."

JUST DOGS

by DAVE TERRILL

Camp-out

Folks on vacations who take their dogs along are in for a lot of fun if they plan to camp along the way. It can be a lot of fun — provided a little thought is given as to what the dog may require and also being prepared for some of the special problems that might confront the dog and owner.

Be sure to check regulations regarding camping in areas picked relative to dogs being permitted in them. Most of the national and state parks permit dogs in various areas, provided they are under control and in some cases kept on leash.

If your dog takes a dip in a mountain lake or stream, be sure to keep an eye on him. Even for a dog who is an expert swimmer a sudden cramp from ice cold water can spell trouble. This can easily take place if the dog has been running around the camp site and is quite excited and becomes so overheated that he takes off for the water to cool off.

There are one or two animals in the woods which dogs just seem to get into trouble with no matter what happens. Some dogs keep coming back for a "repeat," and you would think they would have learned their lesson. The animals in question are skunks and porcupines.

If your dog gets his nose full of porcupine quills, you will have to get them out as soon as possible, as they can lead to infection.

Removing quills is not an easy job, and if you can't get to a veterinarian you will have to do the job. Use pliers and pull the quills out slowly — don't jerk them out. If you have a sedative or an aspirin on hand, give it to the dog. His nose is sensitive and he can be touchy about anyone trying to pull out such things as quills.

Skunks live by the old adage — "leave me alone and I will do likewise," however dogs who have never met this sage of the words don't usually concern themselves about such quotations and barge in with results that are rather terrific. Fortunately, the dog's dignity is more often hurt than his body, but he can be hit in the eyes. Eye ointment will take care of the eyes. Various remedies from mud packs to corn meal or a tomato juice bath have been tried to remove the skunk odor, but time is just about the best cure.

Don't forget that poisonous snakes can give your dog a lot of trouble and that snake bite kit might come in handy for the dog if he gets bitten.

Most of the supplies in a first aid kit can be used for the dog, but a few extra, such as flea and tick remedies for him, should be included.

New Veterinarians

The nation's 17 veterinary colleges have just graduated 841 doctors of veterinary medicine, a compilation by Gaines Research center, New York, reveals.

This figure compares with 763 graduated last year and with an average of 592 graduated during the years 1940-1950. The number of veterinarians in the country, including those in private practice, agricultural and public health work, research, teaching and in private industry, is close to 20,000.

Educational requirements for a veterinary degree today compare in every way to those required for graduation as a doctor of human medicine, according to the center.

Nordic Hills Course Offers Top Golf Test

August 2 Deadline for Entries Of Paddock Handicap Meet

Paddock Publications offers twilight golfers a chance to read, then play the course this week in preparation for the annual Paddock Inter-League Handicap golf tournament, Aug. 17.

A complete hole-by-hole analysis of Nordic Hills should enable the competing golfers, slated to be determined this Saturday, to become more acquainted with the course located on Bloomingdale Road just south of Medinah.

First place teams of local leagues as of Aug. 2 will be eligible for the tournament. Responsibility for naming the four golfers from each league rests on the shoulders of league officers.

NOW, GET READY and play the course:

No. 1 — 374 yards, par 4. Tee-off on a hill, shoot across a rolling valley to a ridge heavily timbered at the rear with a steep bank behind the green. There are trees to the left, but the fairway is wide.

No. 2 — 337 yards, par 4. Slightly rolling, not difficult but a small, fast green will test your mettle.

No. 3 — 370 yards, par 4. Narrow, wooded fairway off the tee, across a deep valley with the green among trees. This hole is shorter than it appears and is certain to cause a lot of trouble. Must shoot straight to keep out of trouble.

No. 4 — 314 yards, par 4. Narrow fairway with out-of-bounds fence on the left, thick grove of trees on the right. It's a blind shot from the tee, though a straight tee shot makes this an easy hole. Fairway is only 50 yards wide. A long 225-yard tee shot will go to the green.

No. 5 — 320 yards, par 4. This is a dogleg to the right with the golfer shooting out of the slot over a hill with the crest 50 yards from the tee. Side hill lies add to difficulty of the hole.

No. 6 — 190 yards, par 3. Tee-off on hill across wide creek that is 25 yards from the green, with the creek angling across the fairway. Trees are on 3 sides of the green.

No. 7 — 492 yards, par 5. Creek directly in front of tee, a dogleg to the right, open fairway, green, narrow and fast.

No. 8 — 199 yards, par 3. Down hill all the way from tee to green. Golfers should use a club one number short of the club normally used.

No. 9 — 275 yards, par 4. Shoot off a hill through the woods, across a flat fairway to a raised green with thick woods on the right waiting to catch a slice. Easy par 4.

No. 10 — 554 yards, par 5. Long dogleg to the right, wide open fairway except for a clump of trees on the right at the hock (apologies to our dog editor).

No. 11 — 194 yards, par 3. Tee-off from a hill among trees, wide level fairways, creek behind the green.

No. 12 — 523 yards, par 5. A long 5 on flat fairway, green at the top of a steep hill. There is an out-of-bounds fence on the right all the way for hooks.

No. 13 — 88 yards, par 3. Tee is on a hump. You shoot across a ravine to a green sloping back to the ravine. This is a hard one not to overshoot.

No. 14 — 366 yards, par 4. Tee-off from hill across open flat fairway to green in the woods. It's easy for a straight shooter.

No. 15 — 248 yards, par 3. Long par 3, but open fairway, no hazards.

No. 16 — 356 yards, par 4. This is a sharp dogleg to the left at about 250 yards. Side hill lies for an approach to the green.

No. 17 — 418 yards, par 4. Long par 4, tee from hill over long open fairway. Green is set on a ridge in semicircle of trees.

No. 18 — 477 yards, par 5. Tee-off between lanes of trees for 100-yards, then a wide open fairway. (Sp

Arnold Captures Low Gross Honors In Rob Roy Play

Len Arnold had one of his usual good nights Tuesday and shot a one under par 34 on the front nine at Rob Roy to walk off with low gross honors for the evening. This is not an unusual honor for this top ranking amateur as his name is synonymous with top flight golf on the local links. Bob Johnson shot a low net of 32 to lead last place Borchardt's Restaurant to a 5½ to 1½ upset victory over 1st place Hildebrand's I.G.A.

Herb Jackisch also carded a net 32 on the front nine to share low flight honors with Bob Johnson in the number two flight.

This amazing struggle for a berth in the Paddock Tourney is going right down to the wire with only 3½ points separating the first and sixth place teams with next Tuesday night's results determining the winning team.

Five Teams Battle For Paddock Berth

Five teams remain in the running for a place in the Paddock Tournament in St. James golf. Lauterburg & Oehler with a 3½ point lead going into the last night of play, has a big advantage but can't be counted in as yet. None of the five leaders meet each other this week, so each will be meeting a team playing relaxed golf and willing to be a spoiler.

Black's Memorial Home, taking 4½ points from Simonds Abrasives, moved into second place, continued their drive which started three weeks ago in eighth position. They were led by Capt. Jim Loughman with a net of 34.

Kindler's Ice Cream swept six points from Prospect Hts. Service Station and moved into a contending position for the league title, although not in contention for the Paddock Tournament. Shanahan and Riley, with nets of 32 each, took the honors in the sweep. Prospect Hts. Liquor continued to slip losing to Glueckert's Lounge 4½ to 1½. Alm's Scratch of 42 and Milnamow's net of 35 led the winners.

VFW Golf

Led by Duke Kopplin, the Georges surged from third place to first, and will represent the Arlington VFW league in the Paddock tournament. Kopplin's nice round of 37-7 net 30 took both the low gross and net honors for the evening. The Georges team roster consists of the following men: Bud Kreusch, Chuck Baranowski, Duke Kopplin, Pete Bodor, Walter Aronson.

Sam Rauworth and Andy Graczyk now share the lead for the most matches won trophy with 8½ wins each. George Hanke has a big lead in the low gross honors, but the low net trophy is still up for grabs with several players still in the running.

Gerbing or Roll King Set To Represent Wayside Golf

With the Paddock tournament drawing near, Gerbing Mfg. Corp. continues to maintain its spot as top team in the Lady Of The Wayside League at Chevy Chase. After this has gone to press, the results of Wednesday night's play of July 30th will be in and there may be a new leader as Roll King is 2½ points behind followed by Lauterburg and Oehler, another 3 points behind. So it looks like Gerbing and Roll King have the best chance to gain the qualifying spot. With none of the players from last year's "Paddock" team, Barrett Insurance, in contention, the league will send out new blood to try to cop the cup.

Gerbing scored a 4-3 win over Garden Liquors Wednesday, July 23, to add to its lead. Victories were gathered in by Bob Ulbrich, Sr. and Jack Witzig, substituting for Frank Plennert. Jack Boland of Garden Liquor, the hole-in-one star, won the ninth hole to tie Bill Clerihan. Greg Moody defeated Chuck Cronin also on the final hole and Jim Howard took a 2 to 1 win from Augie Bonucchi.

LAUTERBURG AND Oehler continued to show improvement and stayed right on the leaders' heels by defeating Continental Can, 4½-2½. Tom Waldron took Tom Strass' measure with a 1-up decision. Bob Ulbrich, Jr. took Hank Wist 3-2 with Pat Gilmore scoring the other victory for L & O. Howie Johnson and Tony Marini accounted for 'Continental's 2½ points by taking Earl Scherrer and Bob Wirth respectively.

With Howie Jack coming in with a low net of 32 and Bob Botterman shooting a low 40 gross, Arlington Milk defeated Roll King, 4-3. Howie and Bob were aided by Ed Keegan as the three of them held off five members of the Roll King team. Joe Foreman and Tom McGrath won their matches on forfeit. Don Engstrom and Dave Marini tied Botterman and Jack in their matches but Arlington Milk gained low team and individual nets.

Our league secretary, Ed. Stofft a sometimes long-ball hitter hit the green on No. 1 with his second long wood then sunk his putt for an eagle three. Only two men have scored eagles for the entire season play to date Tuesday nights at Mt. Prospect. LeMay was the other one.

Clayton Lyons was another hot man in July 22nd play when he marked birdies on No. 2, 5 and 9. Skelton birdied No. 3; Bannister, No. 9; Linderman No. 18 and MacCarbon No. 13. Competition this week resulted in considerable juggling with the last several teams but the leaders remained unchanged.

New Leader In Scratch Golf League

The Old Orchard scratch league has a new leader this week as State & Rand Service culminated a steady climb to the top by soundly thumping Lattof Motors, 5½-1½. Bill Hugo paced the victors with a one under par 35, even though taking a double bogey 5 on 18. Johnny Eiler, the victim, has become this year's hard luck golfer as this makes the third sub par round shot against him.

As State & Rand was making its move, runner-up L'Nor Cleaners and third place Peterson Floor were battling one another in the match that everyone thought would determine this week's leader. Peterson managed to win, 4½-2½, but still kept them 3 points from the lead and ½ point behind L'Nor's. Frank Matyas led the winners with a 37, while Len Arnold and Don Hager picked up the losers' only points with 37s.

ALTHOUGH HAVING no immediate bearing on the standings there were several fine matches among the "also rans." Ed Moehling shot an even par 35 to subdue Shelby Stewart, 36; Ben Kronn needed every one of his 36 strokes to beat Dan Musser's 38. Wayne Rolfs' birdie 3 on 9 for a 35 enabled him to beat Al Griffiths' 37; and Jim Nebauer had to shoot a two under par 34 to win from Avery Harris, 36.

Local Realty Manager Tells How to Trade Your House

More and more families are learning they can trade their home just as they do their automobiles.

That's the expert opinion of A. Gayle Whitney, manager of Baird and Warner's branch office at 11 S. State rd., Arlington Heights.

It was Whitney's firm which first helped put house trading on an organized basis in 1951. Today, every Baird and Warner salesman is required to understand — and make house trades.

IN THEORY, the process is just the same as trading in the family bus for a new car. You look around for the person who can most closely meet your demands, you swap your car and some cash and you have a new car.

House trading is just the same, says Whitney. Again, you or your real estate broker, finds someone who has a house which meets your requirements. Then you trade your present house and cash, or some other property you may own, and move in.

House trading can become an involved process, according to Whitney, but here are some of the more common ways:

—The straight trade: The property owners trade their equities even, although some cash is usually required to make up the small difference in value of the properties.

—The blanket mortgage trade: An individual trading for another home may have to dispose of his own property to complete the deal. A blanket mortgage is placed on both of the properties for a short term and the other principal involved is paid off. The realtor then obtains a listing to sell the excess property.

—Guaranteed trade: In this case, the realtor or builder guarantees an individual acquiring another home a fixed price on the old home if he cannot sell it within a specified term, 30, 60 or 90 days.

—Second mortgage trade: A broker loans the home owner funds to cover the down payment for another house and agrees to take over the client's old property at a guaranteed price if he cannot move it within 30 or 60 days.

WHITNEY REMARKED that house trading is on the upsurge, at least as far as his company is concerned. Each month more and more people are trading their homes, usually for a larger one.

But of course, trading is not limited to just residences. Baird and Warner is also in a position to make swaps for commercial and apartment buildings, as well as factories and vacant land.

Federation Urges Collection of Tax

Local governments in Illinois could collect an extra $34 million a year if all registered autos reached the tax rolls and resultant personal property taxes were collected, the Taxpayers' Federation of Illinois said this week.

For the year 1957 registrations for passenger cars in Illinois totalled 3,068,447, but only 1,287,508 of this number were listed on the tax rolls (58 per cent, or 1,780,939 were not on the tax rolls).

ON A STATEWIDE basis, passenger cars were assessed at an average equalized value of $641.28 each. This average assessment applied to 1,780,939 autos that escaped tax rolls produces an equalized valuation of $1,142,080,562. Assuming the 1957 statewide tax rate to be $3.00 per $100 valuation (it was $3.205 in 1956), this means $34,262,417 in property taxes were lost to local governments. This amount is nearly equivalent to the 1956 tax extensions for all local governments in Sangamon, Peoria and Rock Island counties.

It is true that the auto is an article of personal property that is highly taxed in many ways. The auto owner pays a sales or use tax on the vehicle when he purchases it. Each year he purchases license plates to decorate the front and back bumpers. Then too, the gasoline that drives the pistons and all parts, such as tires, are subject to other taxes.

IF AN OWNER lives in a municipality that levies a wheel tax (which, by the way, does not go toward the support of schools and counties, but only to the levying municipality), he is again pinched for the privilege of enjoying the status of an auto owner.

But taking all this into consideration, the absence of 58 per cent of the registered autos in Illinois from personal property tax rolls is not fair to the 42 per cent who are on the rolls and who do pay property taxes on their vehicles. Also, such an omission shifts an additional burden on real estate taxes, and does not help answer the need for additional revenue for local governments that have proven their needs. (BB

Republican Fund Names Fitzgerald

GERALD FITZGERALD

Mark A. Brown of Wilmette is chairman and Gerald F. Fitzgerald of Inverness co-chairman of the sustaining membership division for the United Republican Fund of Illinois' 1958 campaign.

The drive for sustaining dues-paying members is part of the program announced last week by Charles H. Percy, president of the GOP fund raising group, who said that for the first time the Fund would try to raise most of the $850,000 needed to finance the 1958 Illinois Republican campaign through dues-paying memberships. Sustaining members will pay $25.00 annually.

"Increased costs of political campaigning plus a decrease in the number of large donors force us to spread the base of political contributions," Percy said, "and the dues-paying memberships is the best means to accomplish this."

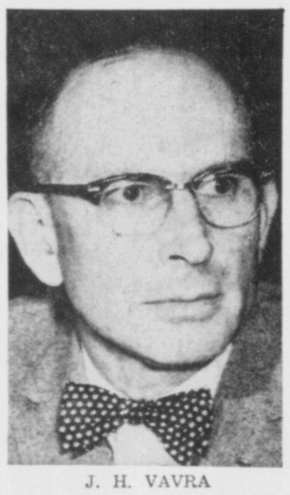
FITZGERALD is a partner in Fitzgerald and Cooke, public relations firm. He was graduated from Northwestern university in 1949. He is a member of the Chicago Athletic Association, Chicago Yacht club and a director of the First National Bank of La Grange.

Brown, a banker, is the former president of the Harris Trust and Savings bank of Chicago.

James Worthy of Winnetka, former assistant secretary of commerce, is the 1958 general campaign chairman of the fund.

Vavra Named Chief



J. H. VAVRA

J. H. Vavra, 502 N. Prospect Manor, Mt. Prospect, has been named head of engineering services section of the Universal Oil Products Co.

Vavra will be responsible for drafting, estimating and mechanical design. He formerly was chief estimator.

HE RECEIVED a B. S. degree in chemical engineering at Washington State college and a master's degree at the University of Michigan.

A registered professional engineer, Vavra joined UOP in 1936 as an engineer in the Riverside pilot plants, and was reassigned to the engineering department and appointed chief estimator in 1954.

Savings Bonds Sales Up

Cook county sales of Series E and H United States Savings bonds in the month of June were 6.6 per cent higher than sales in June last year. Total sales of both series were $18,355,432.

Sales in Illinois were up 5.8 per cent over June 1957, totaling $34,268,302. Series E. and H bonds purchased in the state during the first six months of 1958, totaled $238,634,515, and were $21,333,524 or 9.8 per cent above those for the first six months of 1957, according to T. Merle Paul, state director of the U. S. Savings Bonds division for Illinois.

Some 55.4 per cent of the state's annual quota of $430,400,000 has been reached in the first six months. Illinois sales represent 9.6 per cent of national sales for this period.

Palatine Man At Training Forum

Richard F. Bayer, of 488 Creekwood dr., Palatine, a field representative for Mutual Of New York, is attending a special training forum being held this week in Chicago.

Under discussion are methods by which an individual can use the Social Security law as a basis on which to build a well-rounded family security and retirement program, and various other phases of life insurance and accident and sickness coverage.

Through meeting certain company requirements, Bayer was invited to attend the forum, a specialized course for MONY field underwriters.

New Palatine Rental Firm Literally Rents Everything

A young Palatine enterprise is advertised as a Rent-All, and it really rents "all."

Need a screwdriver, hammer, or saw? Or maybe you need something bigger, such as a post hole auger, or garden tiller.

The S and G Rent-All, 640 E. Northwest hwy., Palatine, can rent anything from a hand trowel to a cement mixer. Owned by a pair of ex-fliers, the business caters to home owners whose neighbors either don't have the tools or are tired of lending them out.

S. C. SIMS of Algonquin and R. E. Gadberry, 121 S. Ash, Palatine, were both pilots during World War II and went to work for Slick Airlines after discharge from service. When the folding of the airline left them jobless, the two fliers went into the rent-all business.

Was it their constant exposure to the whir of motors that made them surround themselves with electric drills, power mowers, buzz saws etc? "Well, we were too hard of hearing to handle an ordinary conversation," Sims joked.

The Rent-All's services are unlimited. Expecting company? They'll rent you a roll-away bed. "We'll even supply you with company," one of the managers laughed.

Going on a trip? You can rent a car top carrier or a trailer. Over 2000 items are available for hourly, daily, or monthly rental.

FOR THE LAWN they offer tillers, rollers, seeders, mowers, weed cutters, and electric nedge clippers. For inside decorating one can obtain electric stapling machines, rug shampoo machines, floor polishers, sanders, or nail pullers.

They'll even rent a wheel barrow to haul the tools away with.

Since calls for rentals come at all hours of the day, S and G is open seven days a week, from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. (BB

Sunday, Aug. 3, at 7 p.m., the OUR, Women's Missionary fellowship of the First Baptist church of Arlington Heights, will present a 50-minute color, sound film, "The Flame." This is the story of Korea today combined with the story of an American army officer whose family at home knows little about the conditions abroad.

Dr. Pierce's portrayal of conditions as they really are causes this family to accept, for the first time, a real obligation for the church abroad and the work in foreign fields. Special music has been planned for the program.

Barrington Hills Adds More Land

Barrington Hills Village, which sprawls over 7,500 acres in Barrington township, last week annexed approximately 5000 more acres in Barrington and Algonquin townships. This gives the village a total acreage of 12,500.

Judge Henry L. Cowlin in session at Woodstock signed an order approving the petition of more than 115 Algonquin township property owners to join the village. Barrington Hills then annexed the territory.

Cook county Judge Otto Kerner earlier had authorized the village to proceed with annexations in the southwest part of Barrington township.

JUDGE MINARD E. HULSE of Lake County will hear a petition from 93 Cuba township owners to annex to Barrington Hills next Tuesday. If the Lake county property is acquired by Barrington Hills it will be approximately 15,000 acres and the largest village in the United States in area.

The land is currently composed of country homes. The Barrington township section of the village is in 5-acre zoning; the Algonquin territory is zoned for farming or three acre residential and the Lake county area, on which petitions are still pending is in county 5-acre residential zoning.

Collect and Store Seeds From Favorite Flowers

Home owners who have some particularly nice flowers this vear may want to collect seed from these plants for planting next spring.

This is a good way to increase the number of flowers in the garden without added expense, but first a word of caution: There are several cases in which plants from collected seed may not produce the desired results. Many of the better flowering plants today such as petunias are hybrids.

TRUE HYBRIDS are the result of crossing one inbred strain with another strain to produce flowers of a given color and type. These parent strains may or may not have the same color or the same growth habit as the resultant hybrid. Seed produced by these hybrids gives a mixture of colors and growth types.

A second reason: Insects and wind cross-pollenate flowers. Seeds from these crosses often produce unpredictable mixtures of colors and growth habits. If flowers of a specific color and type are preferred, it is best to buy commercial seed.

IF THERE is but a single variety of each species of flower, such as dwarf, yellow marigolds or tall zinnias, with no other similar varieties nearby, there will be little chance of cross-pollenation and the seed produced will result in flowers that are true to type.

If it is decided to collect seed, wait until the seed pods are dry and beginning to crack open.

AFTER COLLECTING the seed, spread it out on a paper or open pan and allow it to air-dry several weeks in a warm room. After it is dried, put it in a labeled envelope and store it in a sealed fruit or pickle jar.

The jar should be kept in a cool place where temperatures range from 35 to 50 degrees.

Some seeds lose their ability to germinate within a year, so it may be a good idea to test them before planting in spring.

DO THIS by placing a counted number of seeds between two moist sheets of blotting paper. To prevent the paper from drying out too quickly it can be placed in a covered pie tin. Keep the seed at 65 to 75 degrees for several days, then count the number of seeds that germinated. If germination is less than 100 per cent, sow the seed a little thicker than usual. If germination rate is very low, discard the seed and buy new seed. (Fm

Exams September 2 For U. S. Academies

Senator Paul H. Douglas announced this week that he has asked the U.S. Civil Service Commission to conduct a qualifying examination on Tuesday, September 2, 1958, for the young men in Illinois who seek appointment next year to the United States Military, Naval, Air Force, and Merchant Marine Academies.

The examination will be given in Des Plaines, Elgin and Evanston.

Young men between the ages of 17 and 22 who are interested in attending one of the service academies may obtain information about the examination and the competition for appointment by writing to Senator Paul H. Douglas at Room 337, U. S. Courthouse, 219 S. Clark st., Chicago 4, Illinois.

Windbreaks Need Sprays And Fences

Spraying with malathion will kill bagworms and adult red spiders that have hatched on evergreen windbreaks.

Such miticides as Aramite or Dimite have the advantage of killing red spider eggs as well as spiders that have hatched, according to L. B. Culver, University of Illinois extension forester.

Red spider in spruce and bagworm in Douglas fir cause loss of foliage which, in turn, causes death or gives the trees an unthrifty appearance.

Culver maintains that domestic animals and poultry might be considered pests from the viewpoint of good windbreak care. They should be kept away from windbreaks no matter how great the temptation to pasture the grass or provide shade.

4-H CLUB NOTES

4-H Gives Picnic For Home Bureau

The Northern Lights and Itasca Little Women held a joint picnic at Elk Grove July 9. Their guests were women from the Home Bureau and mothers, sisters and brothers of the 4-Hers.

Girls of the Itasca Little Women displayed the garments they sewed, and both clubs prepared the food which was served the picnickers.

Those attending from the Ranchettes were Mesdames I. Baldus, B. Cummins, W. Field, T. Pradota, H. Bieschke with Judy, Jimmy, Linda and Bobby; Mrs. E. Davies with Sharon and Richie; Mrs. Krawazyk with Rita Victor and David; Mrs. M. Mack with Linda; Mrs. N. Manning with Renee and Mark, and Sue Reuter.

JULY 12 the Itasca Little Women held a monthly meeting in the home of Mrs. T. Pradota. It was decided that the club will attend Riverview August 6, and plans were made to visit a museum and see a performance of "My Fair Lady" before the end of summer.

The girls thanked Mrs. Pradota for helping them with their sewing projects which were shown at County Achievement day July 29.

4-H Will Donate Money to Church

When the Sewing Susies' 4-H club met in St. Peter Lutheran activity building July 7, it was discussed and decided that the club would donate a sum of money to St. Peter church for the use of a meeting place. It was also decided the club would buy folders for all the members for their records.

Answers were given to questions asked concerning record sheets and a booth committee for the fair was appointed. On the committee are Lynn Rodewald, Audrey Gronert, Carole Halstead and Linda Umbdenstock. Lynn Rodewald was chosen the club's nominee for queen at the fair.

Audrey Gronert gave demonstrations and talks on the following: candles, common errors in making clothing, according to the 4-H standards, freezing, general directions in serving, arrangements around the year, floors and floor coverings, furniture and accessories and home gardening. Linda Umbdenstock gave a talk about the 4-H hem and Jean Nolting gave a demonstration on tools used for sewing. Garments made by the members were judged.

Refreshments were served by Lynn Rodewald and Linda Umbdenstock.

The Way We See It

High School Bond Issue Should Pass

A few days ago, parents of high school students and recent grads received a letter from Kenneth E. Dougan, president of district 214's board of education.

In his letter, Mr. Dougan exhorted voters to okay the purchase of 106 acres for two additional high school sites at the special election Saturday, Aug. 9.

Paddock Publications endorses his request.

A study of the population growth in the school district — and its effect on future high school enrollment — was completed six months ago by Drs. Jack Childress and Frank Endicott of Northwestern university's school of education.

Based on the rate of growth from 1950 to 1957, the study predicted some 10,000 high school students within the district by 1966. Projected even farther, the pair forsee an eventual enrollment of between 15,000 and 20,000 students.

Enrollment in the present schools, Arlington Heights high and Prospect high, will be approximately 3,425 for the coming school year, compared with only 1,275 just four years ago.

By 1961 the capacities of the two schools will be reached, based on a maximum of 2,500 students each. Within the past year, there were 2,268 grade-schoolers registered in the district, indicating a freshman class eight years from now of over 2,500.

The location of the 106 acres, actually two sites, coincides with the established growth pattern of the district. Forty acres are on Goebbert rd. between Algonquin and Golf rds., and 66 acres are on the south side of Hintz rd. a quarter-mile west of Wolf rd., immediately south of Wheeling.

The former location will serve the burgeoning village of Elk Grove, and the latter, the rapidly expanding Wheeling area.

Voters may ask themselves, "Why now?" Aside from the obvious need for additional schoolrooms in coming years, there are two other factors requiring immediate acquisition of the new sites—availability and cost.

The first one, availability, is equally obvious. The expansion within the district shows, month by month, fewer sites available for suitable school construction.

The second is economically linked to the first by the consequences of supply and demand. As private home developers and industry move in, land values go up.

Seven years ago the school board bought land for Prospect high at $1,100 an acre. Today, the school board will pay $3,000 and $3,500 an acre for the present sites.

Other school districts find themselves caught in the same dollar-squeeze. Lyons Township high school, La Grange, bought land seven years ago for $2,000 an acre. Now, adjacent land is valued at $6,000.

Maine Township paid $900,000 for two sites, and voters in New Trier district were asked to approve a 1-million-dollar purchase of a square block adjacent to their school.

To avoid these high costs, voters are asked to endorse their school board's request for a bond issue of $359,000 on Aug. 9.

According to School Supt. H. L. Slichenmyer, the tax increase to pay off the bonds will have a negligible effect on the individual taxpayer. A home assessed for $10,000, with an actual value of about $25,000, would be taxed only $1.88.

To uphold the general excellence of our schools, and to provide our children with the kind of education they deserve, we heartily recommend all residents of high school district 214 to support the school board's request.

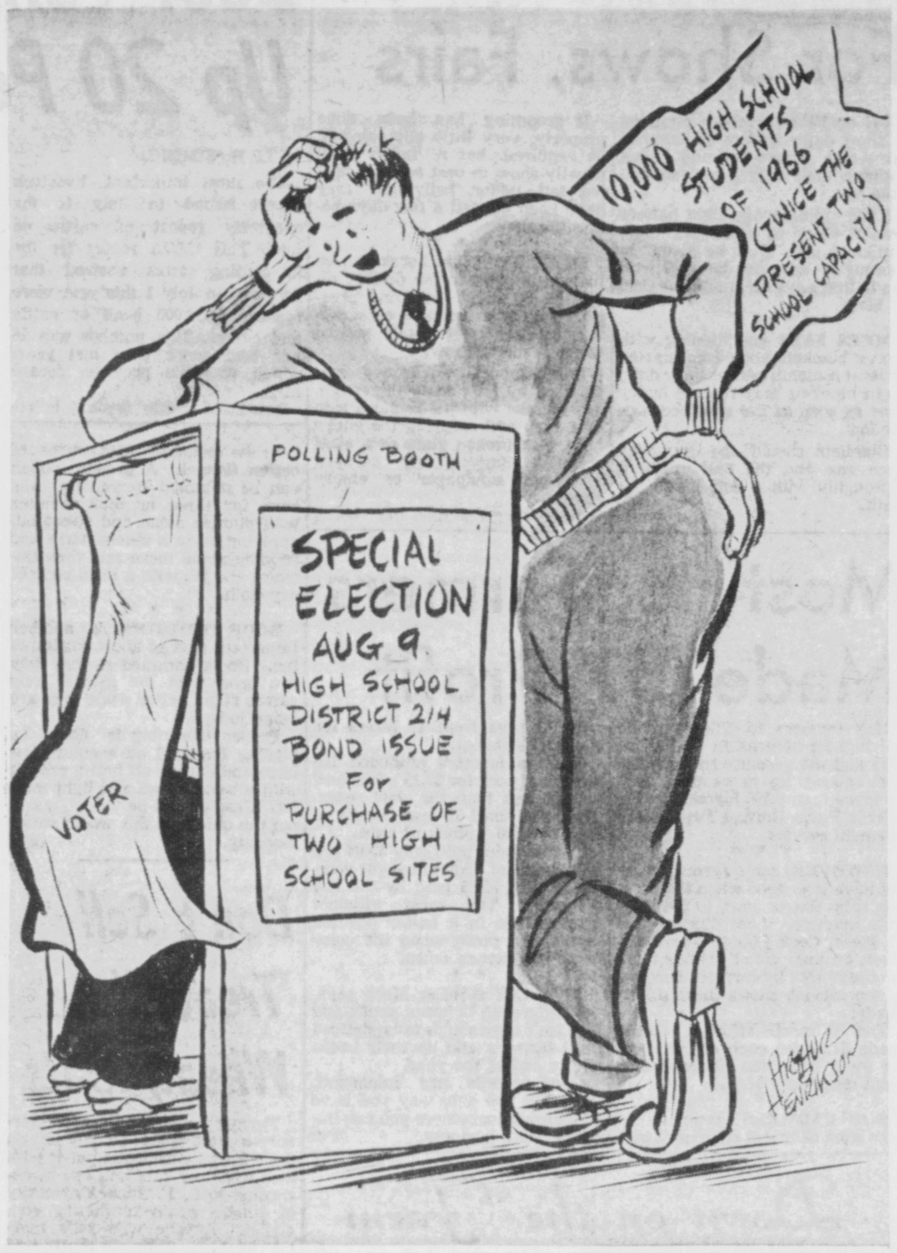
'Mind If I Watch?'



The Role of Our Citizen-Soldiers

National Guard Vital To America's Security

Stuart R. Paddock, president of Paddock Publications, Inc., was guest speaker Saturday at the annual review ceremonies of the 698th Missile Battalion (Nike) of the Illinois Army National Guard at Fort Sheridan.

Following is the text of his remarks to the troops:

I am happy to be here this morning. It is not often that an editor can rub shoulders with army brass. Neither is it often that an editor has an opportunity to talk out loud—usually he uses a typewriter and the printed page. It is the first time I have had an opportunity to talk to men in uniform, many of whom are from my home community.

As I stand here before you, I recall the last time that I had a direct contact with the National Guard. It was at Camp Ripley, Minn., six years ago. When I arrived in camp, I found a tent was waiting for my individual use. My name was on the sign and I temporarily had visions of meriting a salute until a brother newspaperman told me we were lucky to have a corporal rating, but we would not be required to wash our plates.

I wore OD's, rode in a jeep over the roughest of roads as we visited the ranges. We went up and down as much as we went forward. When we returned to camp we were told we had passed through basic training provided for newspapermen. General McBride assured us if we returned the next year he would place a helicopter at our disposal.

AT THAT TIME, the National Guard was concerning itself chiefly with the firing of 20, 40 and 90 millimeter guns. Air missiles were not thought of by the average citizen. The weekend warriors at that time had no thought that the time would come when their training would include the firing of guided missiles at supersonic speed to heights which at that time were unattainable by winged aircraft, and they would be trained to direct missiles to reach a pre-determined target 5,000 miles distant.

Outward display of loyalty to country was much in evidence in the past generation. Observance of Memorial Day and July 4th were all-day affairs before the automobile became the family mode of transportation.

I was brought up under that atmosphere. My mother told her children stories of the Civil War. I remember my fear when Sitting Bull went on a rampage in the 1880's and I thought that the Indians would invade Illinois.

I WAS IN MY teens when the Maine was blown up in Havana harbor. I recall the great rejoicing and headlines when Dewey defeated the Spaniards at Manila.

In those days we had red-blooded observance of July 4th. You citizen-soldiers never had the thrill to celebrate your country's birthday as did my generation; waking up at 4 a.m. on the 4th, going downstairs in our stocking feet, gathering at the old muzzle loading cannon with a few bags of black gunpowder, wadding it down with wet paper, setting off the fuse, and holding our hands to our ears as the home-made blast woke up the town.

Or, we prevailed upon the village smithy to loan his anvil for the same purpose. At night we went to bed with our burned fingers and blackened face. We told our elders we were just being patriotic.

Has the contraband on noise-makers today diminished our patriotism, or do we think we are doing our full duty to Uncle Sam by paying our income tax?

IN 1916 THE National Guard took a big part in the so-called Mexican Border incident. When an insurrection broke out in Mexico and Villa threatened our interests, our government was not as weak-kneed as is charged today. In those years, members of the National Guard received no pay for weekly drills. Their pay was 50c at the state camp which was raised to $30 a month when the Federal government took them over.

Then came World War I. Patriotism ran high. Hometown guard units equipped with wooden guns were organized. Included were professional and businessmen who were over the draft age. They wanted to do their part.

Committees were formed to sell Victory Bonds. Those committees set the quota of almost every bank depositor. The pressure upon the individual was greater than ever exerted in any church or hospital building campaign.

Today it is Peace Time, Uncle Sam depends upon the purchase of Saving Bonds to keep the country financially prepared for whatever may come. You citizen-soldiers have a big part in preparedness for future defense.

Is the average citizen of today as patriotic as were those 50 years ago, or do we have to live so fast that we do not have time to express it?

Uncle Sam's defense potential is as great as ever. He does not have a standing army of millions, but the presence of you citizen soldiers represent the nucleous of an army that can spring to his defense when danger threatens.

We are depending upon you. In spite of screaming headlines, the average citizen is doing little worrying about the effect of atomic weapons being turned against us.

YOU CITIZEN soldiers of the National Guard provide a reserve component of the Army of the United States, capable of expansion to war strength, able to furnish units for service anywhere in the world. You are equipped to:

a. To defend critical areas of the United States against land, sea-borne and air-borne invasion.

b. To assist in the governing, mobilization and concentration of the remainder of the reserve forces.

c. To participate by units in all types of operations, including the offensive, either in the United States or overseas.

To provide sufficient organizations in each state so trained and equipped as to enable them to function efficiently at existing strength in protection of life and property and preservation of the peace, order and public safety, under competent orders of state authorities.

TODAY, WITH ALL our military forces taking new or expanded roles in the present emergency, it is important to understand the background and current aims of our oldest military organization. Especially since, more than any other military component, the citizen-soldier is invested with the deep personal pride of our communities. It is supported by local effort, encouraged by the traditions of our home states, and staffed with officers and men who are our friends and neighbors.

I know of no other organization in the country that hews closer to the line of American beliefs, that is dedicated more completely to American principles, than our own citizen-soldiers.

The American people have never tolerated the idea of a large professional army. Not only because of the high cost of such an army, but because of the belief that it is the right and duty of the American citizen to defend his country in time of danger.

So there you have the problem. How do you keep a nation ready — and thereby secure — without keeping millions of men under arms at all times? There is, of course, one natural solution, one typically American solution — an organization of citizen volunteers, training at home to defend our homes.

THE YEARS HAVE brought proof of their devotion and patriotism as they responded to the Nation's call in the Spanish-American War, the Mexican Border expedition, two World Wars, and the Korean Emergency. And to this day, they continue to strive for greater effectiveness to keep step with the ever-increasing complexity of modern warfare.

But with the passage of time, the role of the citizen-soldier and airman of the Army National Guard and Air National Guard — and more important, the reasons for their being, how they function as soldiers or airmen while going about their civilian occupations, and how and why the States which sponsor these organizations have a vital part in this contribution to National defense.

CITIZEN - SOLDIERS, I SALUTE YOU!

Letters to the Fence Post

Destruction of Trees

As a general thing we are not in favor of using the editorial columns of a newspaper, local or otherwise, for the airing of personal grievances. But there must be others, like ourselves, long-time residents of Arlington Heights who, helpless and heartsick at the wholesale destruction of beautiful trees in this village, can only raise a voice in protest.

For many years Arlington Heights, like Topsy, just "growed," with little emphasis on esthetic appeal. But we have always had one feature of which we could be justly proud—our trees. It seems to us that progress, like beauty, is of two varieties, real and synthetic. Many of us must be troubled by the thought, "What variety are we practicing now?"

Granted that some of our streets should be widened. But do we need four-lane thoroughfares at the expense of losing our trees in the very heart of a residential area—the threat which already faces us in the further widening of Dunton street? The mere widening and lighting of downtown streets will in no way stop the trend toward outlying shopping areas with adequate off-street parking. All that is needed on Dunton, Evergreen and other streets is sufficient room for cars to pass comfortably even when one side is used for parking or "standing" cars. There is really plenty of space for this type of widening without the sacrifice of trees.

What do we in terms of long-range thinking, really want? Widened, denuded streets lined with neon-lighted stores—or shaded avenues that will continue to soften a diversified architecture and give us green arches six months out of every year? Before further tree-slaughter is permitted in the name of progress, perhaps this is a time to remember that it has taken over seventy years to grow these majestic elms.

Mr. and Mrs. John L. Grose
Arlington Heights

High School Sites

A letter to the Fence Post last week has raised several questions with respect to the coming vote to authorize the purchase of two additional high school sites. Certainly the people are entitled to answers, some of which were covered in the same issue of the paper, others in the same issue as the legal notice, July 17. In fact, one article announced specifically a public meeting on the subject for 8 p. m. July 30, at Arlington High School.

First as to the size of the one site. The actual size is 66 acres, the headline saying 69, being an error on the part of the newspaper. The "more or less" phrase in the legal announcement is simply a matter of legal verbiage to avoid subsequent challenges of the bond issue on the grounds of a technicality. It is standard practice and has nothing to do with any confusion over what our high school district's needs are.

Taking up the writer's questions in order:

1. District 214 now owns 19 acres on which Arlington high is located, 60 acres on which Prospect high is located, and slightly under 40 acres on Hintz and Buffalo Grove roads.
2. There is no space for building on the Arlington site; in fact it is too small now. There is room for expansion on the Prospect site if that is what the community really wants at the time additional building is needed. The present building was constructed for 2,500 students, a maximum desirable school agreed upon several years ago by the board of education and the Citizens Lay Advisory Committee which worked on the problem of building the Prospect school. The Buffalo Grove site was obviously intended for another school eventually.
3. What little land is allotted in new subdivisions by the subdividers is taken up by grade schools and parks. After all, it is the grade school and pre-school parent to whom the subdivider is appealing. Even here the amount of land is frequently so small that grade schools must horse-trade and combine in order to get even a grade school site.
4. There are no "tuition fees" as such in the high school, or for that matter in the public grade schools. Our fee paid in the fall is a rental for text books, towels for physical education, student insurance, and the school newspaper. The yearbook is optional. Additional fees are required for materials in special subjects such as shop and art. All of these are waived in the case of students who cannot honestly afford them. To charge more would be contrary to the entire theory and practice of American public education. In fact, Article Eight of the Constitution of the State of Illinois says, "the General Assembly shall provide a thorough and efficient system of free schools . . .," even if they do not always seem "free" to us taxpayers.
5. Night school rates are set to provide the instructional and other out of pocket costs for operating the night school under a policy of the board to encourage adult education and full use of the educational facilities.
6. The board of education has always urged a large vote on issues which it presents. Paddock Publications has done a fine job of publicizing such referenda. Beyond that the means of communication in our community are few. There were news stories on the signing of both the options in question and an announcement that a referendum would be held.

Some of the questions answered above are not really revelant to the broad issue of long range planning in an area of rapidly expanding population, inflated land values, and declining open areas suitable for high schools. But, they were the questions asked. One more comment. In several places, the writer indirectly raises the matter of "classrooms" versus other areas that make up a school plant, the implication being that all that is necessary is to add supposedly cheap "classrooms" to handle an unlimited number of students.

Usually the target is "athletics." I wish it were possible to get across two points: (1) Virtually all of the expense attributed to "athletics" is necessary for physical education which is a required subject, 200 minutes a week, in the State of Illinois, for girls as well as boys; and (2) much of the other areas suc has cafeteria, library, administrative offices, specialized education including such solidly academic subjects as physics, chemistry, and biology as well as shop and art have to be duplicated when adding just "classrooms."

These are matters to be discussed in more detail in connection with any future building program. Let's not lose sight of the main issue: to purchase two pieces of land at a very small cost to the individual taxpayer in order to lay a ground work for orderly expansion of the school system and provide a degree of flexibility in that expansion which would be impossible without them.

Kenneth E. Dougan
President, Board of Education, High School District 214

Theatre Sidewalk

According to the headlines in your issue of the 24th inst. considerable comment has been made and criticism expressed in connection with the reduction of the width of the sidewalk in front of the Arlington Theater by reason of the north side street widening project, and that some plan for a remedy of the situation is being considered.

The solution should not present any great problem as far as the village is concerned. It will have to be kept in mind that public streets and sidewalks installed and maintained by public funds are not maintained to accommodate special requirements of private property owners and businesses. If any error is involved in this situation it was made when the building was constructed. It would seem inconceivable that the owners of a theater should build up to the sidewalk line and not leave sufficient room for the accommodation of its patrons. Even churches and schools are not built that way.

The article reports that a person, not directly connected with the village, has deemed the reduction in sidewalk width as "stupid," and defined the theater as a recreational facility for children. It comes with poor grace to label the efforts and well considered plans of the public officials for the improvement of a community as "stupid."

Furthermore a theater is not a recreational facility for children but is a business project undertaken for private gain like any other business, and therefore is not entitled to any more consideration than any other private enterprise.

Keeping House

Several years ago a story appeared in your newspaper about how in years to come Rolling Meadows would turn into a slum area. Your paper disproved this by sending out a photographer and taking pictures of certain blocks and houses which showed the pride taken by the people in this community.

If your photographer were to go out again and take some pictures, and by chance happen to photograph the residence of an individual who is now a candidate for public office, I am certain your photographer, as well as all others who are interested, would find it difficult to disprove.

How can this man expect to be elected to a public office and uphold the rights of the people in this community and area when he does not take enough pride to display a more presentable residence? It seems to me a man endeavoring to attain an important political position and represent the people would take steps to make a favorable impression by displaying a presentable residence.

If a private citizen cannot take enough pride in his residence, as well as general appearance of the community, the question occurs to me, "How will be 'keep house' when in public office?"

D. J. Miller

Massacre of Trees

How long will it be before we will have to change the name of beautiful Arlington Heights to Sahara?

Ninety trees coming down on the North side to make way for wider, treeless streets—why? So cars can travel faster?

Why can't people get back to walking—and enjoy the trees—or else move to one of those new towns where they have no trees?

The daily whine of saws and the crashing down of our trees is sickening, and the bare streets with the felled trees look like a tornado had just passed through town!

What a shameful waste of God's handiwork.

Remember please—wide streets mean more cars, and more cars mean greater hazards to us all.

Only God can make a tree. What right have we to destroy them?

If folks don't like our tree-lined streets, let them move to the city, and not make a city of our beloved town.

Can't this massacre be stopped before we live in a bare, unsightly town?

No street is worth that.

Worth Saving

Some years back, a group of far sighted men, led by a Mr. Burnham, created and dedicated a plot of ground, and gave to the City of Chicago a front yard that is the envy of every large city in this country, if not in the entire world.

These men placed the aesthetic need of a growing city ahead of any monetary gain, and against opposition dedicated for posterity something for beauty and beauty alone.

Arlington Heights is today faced with the problem of losing one of its main features, a feature that distinguishes it from any other town in the area, its railroad parks.

Our front yard has become a trademark, and in my estimation should not be placed on the chopping block of commercialism.

I believe it is up to us, the citizens of Arlington Heights, to determine the future of these parks.

I'm not unmindful of the fact that $500,000 is a lot of money. However, three or four times that amount is wagered at Arlington Park every afternoon. It boils down to a matter of values.

Are the parks worth saving? I feel they are!

How to Control Stored Wheat Bugs

Stored grain insects are in for a rough time this summer. That is, they will be if farmers follow the suggestions of Steve Moore, entomologist with the University of Illinois and Illinois Natural History Survey.

Moore has outlined a five-point program to control these pests. If applied properly, this program can tremendously reduce insect damage to stored grain.

MOORE EXPLAINS that grain insects are present throughout the year. But during the winter they are relatively inactive. When warm weather arrives, their numbers increase by leaps and bounds. By summer they have mobilized forces to invade wheat and other small grains. If they go unchecked, they can greatly reduce a farmer's grain profits. On the average, farmers lose 10 per cent of their stored grain to insects.

To prevent this loss in your wheat, follow this program suggested by throne:

1. Clean up storage bins and all equipment used for handling grain. Also remove accumulations of old grain near bins. Studies show that 70 to 80 per cent of the infestations arise in wheat because insects are already in the bin when the new wheat is stored.

2. Spray bins to kill insects that escape during the clean-up. Some insects, such as cadelle, bore into bin walls. Only sprays will successfully eliminate them.

USE MALATHION at one per cent concentration, methoxychlor at 2.5 per cent concentration or pyrethrins at 0.5 per cent concentration. For maximum control, apply 7 to 10 days before storing the wheat. DDT is not cleared for use as a bin spray material.

3. Store only clean, dry grain. The moisture content of stored wheat should never exceed 13 per cent. High moisture creates certain odors that attract insects and hasten their development. Clean grain is important because it seems to discourage insects from breeding.

4. Treat the grain itself as further insurance. Use either a protective material or a fumigant.

Protective materials do not kill insects that are already in grain. Instead, they protect the grain from later infestation. Apply them to grain immediately after harvest. Both liquid and dust forms are available.

APPLY DUSTS to grain in the combine hopper. But apply liquids to the grain stream as it is elevated or augered into the grain bin. Liquid applications are by far the least expensive to use and the least objectionable to elevator operators. And their control is equal to that of dusts.

Both malathion and pyrethrins are effective as protective materials. But malathion is superior in controlling Indian meal moth infestations.

Fumigants can be applied either as a single treatment in mid-August or as a double treatment the last week in July and again in mid-September.

INDIAN MEAL moth infestations may develop by July in wheat treated with a fumigant. If this happens, apply a surface application of either malathion or pyrethrins. Presence of this damaging moth is indicated by webbed kernels.

5. Reinspect grain at regular intervals. Moore suggests at least twice a month during the summer and once a month during the winter. Inserting metal rods in the grain mass is a good practical way to detect "hot" spots. These spots are created by high moisture or insects.

Moore explains that this 5-point program is designed to control stored wheat insects. But it will also help to control insects that attack shelled corn and other small grains in storage. (FM

Train Calves For Shows, Fairs

4-H or FFA members planning to show dairy heifers at summer fairs and shows should start training their calves to lead and pose now.

Since animals who fight halters always show to a disadvantage, sufficient time must be given to thoroughly acquaint the calf with the halter, says farm adviser Carl F. Mees.

MEES SAYS conditioning with heavy blankets should be started at least a month before show date. Light blankets may replace heavy ones as soon as the skin becomes mellow.

Blankets should be removed each day and the calf groomed thoroughly with a soft brush or cloth.

If grooming has been done properly, very little clipping will be required, but a heifer will usually show to best advantage if her tail, udder, belly and face have been clipped a few days before the show.

MEES SAYS that horns can be trained to grow in the desired direction by either applying pressure with horn trainers or scraping the horn on the side toward which it should grow.

Horns should be trimmed and polished by first removing rough, scaly areas with the rounded side of a rasp and scraping the entire horn with broken glass or a steel scraper. Smooth the scraped areas with sandpaper or emery cloth.

Mees suggests that the horns then be polished with strips of cotton flannel. A proper polish can be obtained by rubbing the horn for three or four minutes with pumice stone and sweet oil, applying oil to a second strip and rubbing some more and then finishing the job with a third strip of dry cloth.

HOOF TRIMMING is another important part of show conditioning. Hoofs trimmed so that they are level with the ground help calves stand better while they are being judged.

Proper trimming is done by placing the hoof on a solid platform and cutting off horny growth with a wood chisel and light mallet. Care should be taken not to cut the quick, as this would cause bleeding. (FM

Most Hog Farmers Made '57 Profit

Hog farmers in Illinois made the highest returns in 1957 since 1952 and the second highest since 1942, according to records kept by more than 5,000 farmers in the Illinois Farm Bureau Farm Management service.

HOWEVER, some farmers may not have it so good when the corn-hog ratio comes down to the long-time average. According to Carl F. Mees, Cook County Farm Adviser, an analysis of 493 hog farm accounts kept by farmers enrolled in the service shows these differences:

The 92 most efficient farms made $1.97 for each dollar spent for feed, while the 101 least efficient made only $1.51.

TOP FARMERS weaned 7.6 pigs from 44 litters compared with only 7.1 pigs from 47 litters for the least efficient.

The top farmers produced 100 pounds of pork for $2.15 a hundred pounds less than the low ones. They also used 76 less pounds of feed per 100 pounds of gain.

Top farmers paid only $5.08 per 100 pounds of protein bought compared with $5.29 paid by the low farmers. The most efficient farmers are in a better position to make a profit when the corn-hog ratio comes down.

IN MANY CASES, Mees says, the difference between profit and loss isn't big enough to be noticed until farmers add up their books at the end of the year.

Good records are important. They are the only way you have of knowing just where you can improve your business. (Fm

Down on the Farm

Dutch elm disease is getting a lot of attention in this northwest area at the present time as I announced in this column last week A meeting on this subject has been planned for Tuesday, August 5 at 8 p.m. at the Arlington Heights high school (notice change of place). Dr. C. P. Campana, Illinois Natural History Survey, Urbana, will be the speaker. If you have elm trees you are urged to attend the meeting. It is for the general public, both ladies and gentlemen are invited to attend.

The meeting is planned and sponsored by the Arlington Heights Lions club.

WHEAT — WHEAT harvest is under way. I was talking to Ivan Reid in Hanover township and he reported a yield of more than 50 bushels per acre, with a moisture content of 13.8 per cent. Ivan was storing the wheat and he thought he would have no trouble keeping it with that amount of moisture. Ordinarily we prefer the moisture content to be somewhat lower around 12.5 per cent. As Ivan and I were talking, he brought out the fact that the wheat was clean this year and the weather has a lot to do with wheat storage. If it is during a naturally damp period, of course, it will heat more readily. We have had considerable rain this year, but yet the air is relatively dry most of the time.

HENRY EICHHOLZ of Maine township said they had combined a field of oats that had yielded approximately 75 bushels per acre. This is a good yield of oats also, for this was a relatively early oat.

This has been a good year for small grain. If it can all be combined without loss, our production will be above average. Farmers do not know in September when they sow the wheat, or April when they sow the oats, what the yield will be or if there will be a crop at all. Farming is really a big gamble when the one most important thing, namely weather, cannot be controlled. I am confident that many people who have had no experience in farming do not realize the risk farmers take in trying to produce enough foodstuff for the people in our country.

VEGETABLES — Vegetables are on the bargain counter today. Why don't you keep a good supply on hand at all times. They supply many of the necessary vitamins for healthy living and those of us who are a little on the heavy side can cut down our calories considerably. Cabbage, sweet corn, squash, beets, cucumbers, etc., are all in good supply. Stop at our good roadside stands and pick up your supply.

CORN BORER — Second generation of corn borer moths are emerging in Southern Illinois. They will be here in about two weeks so growers should watch their fields carefully for they will need treatment.

Beef Tonnage in Feedlots Up 20 Per Cent from '57

by L. H. SIMERL

The most important livestock report issued in July is the quarterly report of cattle on feed. This USDA report for the 13 leading states showed that farmers on July 1 this year were feeding 4,269,000 head of cattle and calves. This number was 16 per cent more than last year, which was the previous record high.

Increased cattle feeding is reported for both the corn belt and the west. Nine corn belt states were feeding 3,258,000 head, 15 per cent more than the year before. The four leading western states were feeding 1,011,000 head, 19 per cent more than last year.

THE BIG INCREASE is in moderately heavy cattle, about three-fourths of the increase being in cattle weighing over 900 pounds.

The heavier average weights this year reflect some holding-back of cattle to convert more feed into beef. The number of cattle that had been on feed less than three months was up only 9 per cent, while the number on feed over three months was up 25 per cent, and the number on feed over six months was up 16 per cent.

We made an estimate of the total tonnage of cattle in feedlots and judge it to be about 20 per cent greater than last year. As might be expected, most of this increase consists of steers. The total number of steers was reported as 2,922,000, or 18 per cent more than the year before. Heifers on feed numbered 1,164,000, up 12 per cent. Calves on feed were listed at 170,000 head, 55 per cent more than in 1957.

THE PAY-OFF will be when farmers market their cattle. Although the cattle on feed now are already heavier than they were last year, farmers plan to feed them longer and market them later than they did last year. Most of the increased number of cattle in feed lots are headed for market after October 1.

Marketing intentions were reported as follows: July, 805,000 head, 41,000 more than in 1957; August, 1,057,000 head, 141,000 more; September, 1,043,000 head, 79,000 more; and October and later, 1,364,000 head, 327,000 more.

The supply of fed cattle available for market will not increase quite so much as the number on feed. The reason is that part of the increase in numbers counted in feedlots at any one time reflects the longer average feeding period this year. In the same way the tonnage of fed cattle marketed will not increase so much as the tonnage in feedlots. Nevertheless, the supply of fed cattle available for market seems likely to be considerably larger this fall than it was a year ago.

Don't Sell 'Treated' Wheat, Oats

Farmers who have any mercury-treated wheat or oats left on their farms should not put it with new wheat or oats and sell it, according to L. F. Stice, University of Illinois grain marketing specialist. Anyone who sells mercury-treated grain in bulk and unlabeled is violating the state seed laws and can be fined up to $500 for each violation.

THE LAW STATES that grains treated with chemicals that are harmful to humans or animals must be sold in sacks or bags and labeled unfit for livestock or human food. If the compound contains mercury or other toxic substances, the label must carry the word poison.

Stice reports that every year a few farmers load some of their treated left-over seed wheat or oats on the truck with the new crop and send it to the elevator. Some of this seed goes undetected until it arrives at a flour mill or terminal market. When such feed is found, the entire shipment, box car or truckload is condemned and the grain dealer takes a heavy loss. He must either destroy the grain or ship it to a scouring plant. Scoured grain must be sold at a heavy discount.

ONCE GRAINS are treated, they should be used only for seed. Mercury is highly poisonous, and only a few kernels of treated grain will cause the entire lot to be condemned. (Fm

Gardeners Get 'Green Sums'

Flour, eggs and icing sound like strange ingredients for a garden, but that is what helped landscape the Pleasant Hill School last year. What's more, that is what is going to buy books on gardening for the Palatine Library this year.

Every year the members of the Plum Grove Garden club get together on a balmy July day and plan the annual "ice cream social." On July 23 as the sun was rising, so were over 20 cakes in the ovens of the members as the day of the social was at hand.

Soft drinks, coffee and ice cream were all assembled at 308 S. Hale, home of the president, Mrs. Lawrence Smith, by 2 p.m., and the festivities were well under way.

White elephants were sold until the supply ran out. A supper-break was called at 5, and at 7 p.m. hungry neighbors were back again clamoring for dessert. Meanwhile, not wanting to be left out of the act, the neighborhood children picked berries and sold them as topping for the ice cream.

Finally, at 9 that evening, there were no more cakes, no more ice cream, no more white elephants, no more hardy perennials, no more guests. All that was left was $100 and some new volumes in the Palatine library as soon as the currency could be converted into gardening books.

Upper left — Fortunately there was enough cake on hand to take care of this young man's incredulous disapproval with the current state of things.

At left — Hardy perennials and house plants were on sale for anyone who wanted to spruce up his yard. Junior doesn't quite know what to make of Mother's latest purchase.

Lower left — White Elephant sale, held in conjunction with the social, yielded everything from romantic candles in jugs to a used juicer, but no elephants.

Upper right — All you can eat for 35 cents. Over 20 cakes, gallons of coffee, and ice cream fed more than 200 who turned up at 25 E. Hellen and 308 S. Hale, site of the social.

At right — Time to close up shop at 9 p. m. No more cake, no more ice cream, no more empty spot in the stomach.

Lower right — An extra concession was opened up by children of the members when they made their own topping for ice cream and sold it at black market prices.

PALATINE — Hot, hotter, hottest and awful dry. Mother earth and her people are almost parched done. Every living thing except ripe grain needs rain badly.

Palatine — John Chiamp has closed his fruit store, business not being sufficient to support a fruit store.

A socialist and an organ grinder vied with each for the attention of the public on our streets, Tuesday evening.

R. L. Peck has purchased the three lots north of Hutchins Hart property in the Richmond proposed subdivision.

Palatine nine goes to Libertyville Sunday to decide the championship between Lake County and Suburban Cook. Each team has one to its credit. A large number of rooters are expecting to accompany the team.

Do you want a Photo Pillow top? I can reproduce any sized picture or photograph in the following colors: white, blue, yellow, pink, green and lavender. All pillow tops are washable and will not fade. F. F. Danielsen.

The WRC served over 200 people at their lawn social Tuesday evening. The band was a great attraction and no doubt caused many to be present who would otherwise have forgotten about the affair. It could aid the social ability of our citizens if there would be more of such pleasant affairs.

A local nine, calling themselves the Palatine Giants, went up to Lake Zurich, Sunday, and defeated a nine of that town. The score stood 10 to 9 in favor of our boys when a foul ball was knocked and was declared as such by the umpire. The Lake people objected to the decision and after a half hour of wrangling, the official gave the game to Palatine at 9 to 0.

Langhorst and Linneman were busy this week, getting their threshing machine in order for the harvest. They expect to start at once, as many of the farmers south of town have cut their oats. They have a good machine and treat the farmers right and of course will be busy until the end of the season.

Palatine — Town treasurer, C. H. Patten, has made the following report to the county superintendent as compiled by the census taker: School Districts 10, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17, 18 and 19, total school children 370, total population 2277.

Many of our people will be pleased to hear that Mr. Robert Mosser, a Palatine boy, and who was proprietor of the Hamer drug store, graduated from the College of Physicians and Surgeons last month. He has obtained his degree after years of careful study. He was recognized as one of the best as a druggist and pharmacist. He used to spend many hours after closing time in study. After he sold out his business here, he entered the above school in the freshmen year and continued on through to his graduation grasping the knowledge of his profession in a manner that is seldom equaled and that will make him an MD among the best.

If ever the band boys take another trip down in Hanover township, they will not pass by Fred Volkening's place without stopping especially if it is near meal time. For the dinner gotten ready by the worthy wife of that gentleman last Sunday struck the right spot with the band fellows. Such hospitality earned for the host and hostess the lasting gratitude of the boys and the reputation for being the finest cooks in that neck of the woods.

THE AMERICAN Express Co. have declared all Suburban Express rates off after August 1. It remains to be seen whether this order will effect the delivery of purchases from the Chicago stores to the home of our residents without charge. There is no use to kick. Just swallow the extra charge and be thankful they deliver any thing at all. Moral — Trade at home and don't pay express charges.

The editor has been informed by a prominent member of the Palatine Republican club, that the real reason of the change in its precincts was because the North side did not think it right that they should have all the saloons, so they generously donated three to the south siders as they are a dryer lot down there anyway.

James Toynton, Palatine popular druggist is now wearing that smile that never comes off. Owing to the extreme hot weather, "Papa Toynton" left all his windows open Tuesday night as a result, the "Stork Doctor" flew in and left a bouncing 8 pound baby girl. All doing well.

Quentin Corners — Born to Mr. and Mrs. Herman Landwer, July 25th, a 8½ pound son.

One of the special features of the Wheaton County Fair, which is to be held August 26, 27, 28 and 29, will be C. A. Coey's ascension in the balloon "Chicago," the largest balloon in the world. He expects to leave the Wheaton Fair grounds at 3 o'clock in the afternoon for Canada, to break all long distance records. He has volunteered his services to the fair for the first day.

Henry Fasse, Schaumburg, has greatly improved his new home — tore down the old barn, built a new one back on the lot and is transforming the old house into a modern residence with bay window, etc. When he gets an ordinance passed for a special assessment of the several property owners to build a cement walk from his place to the Center our citizens will invite Mr. Fasse to serve as village alderman and help secure an electric railway through Schaumburg from Wheaton to Fox Lake. The people all along the line will want to send him to the legislature.

The editor called on his esteemed friend, the Hon. John Fasse last Saturday and found him well and genial as ever. His children would each like to have him reside with them but he hates to leave his old home with its pleasant memories and the children take pains for his comfort.

Another of our extra nice Schaumburg girls has been chosen to preside over the home of a worthy Arlington Heights farmer. The wise young men know where to find the best wives.

Schaumburg always takes the lead. Their oats were ripe and they began harvesting three days ahead of other towns.

Wilhelmina Wenthe was born in Germany in 1832. She came to America in 1848 and settled in Schaumburg which has since been her home. She was married to Mr. John Botterman in 1852. To them were born 9 children, 7 are still living. Her husband died in 1871 and the widow continued at the old home with her son Herman. She died July 25. All her children except Emma and many friends including Mr. John Bruns who moved from here to Iowa fifty years ago, paid their last earthly tribute to deceased.

Hanover — A. F. Heine called on a citizen of Dorthurbumpville recently.

Herman Heine used over 45 pounds of twine to bind his good crop of oats in one field Monday.

Ed Curtis claims that prairie chickens didn't get a chance to sit down the past week because of the noise of the grain binders.

WHEELING — Union Market has received a car load of ice. Forke and Miller are having great success with their homemade sausage.

The First Illinois Cavalry National Guards who were out on their annual ten day encampment stopped over night at Borchard's on the avenue on their way to Fox Lake July 20 and again July 27 on their return trip. Those who met them say they are perfect gentlemen and good customers of both Wheeling, the Wheeling merchants and neighboring farmers who will all give them a cordial welcome if they come this way.

Arlington Heights — Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Pate threw open their pleasant home Tuesday evening to a company of over forty iiicluding the Bible Class Men, their wives and a few especially invited guests. The evening was a little bit warm, the temperature of the air by the thermometer on the wall being 80 degrees at 11 o'clock even after scores on scores of plates of ice cream has cooled off things. But the temperature of the enthusiasm and hilarity of the company went way up to the boiling point, after business was over, when Mr. Banta read one of Artemas Ward's "Moral Lectures as Delivered in London," and it stayed there at the boiling point all evening. Mr. Kealey sang a solo, Miss Hulda Lorenzen gave an instrumental, Miss Lucile Paddock rendered "The Flight of the Vengeance" and Miss Daisy Paddock sang a lullaby. Everybody was happy and cool, even the men who declined to appear in their shirt sleeves.

Arlington Heights enjoys a good progressive spirit and healthy boom. Dunton Boulevard has seven new vitrified brick crossings. The sewer system and septic tank will soon be realities. Then with a full fledged high school the Heights will attract more men of capital who will help build our three proposed new Presbyterian, Methodist and Lutheran churches.

40 Years Ago

August 2, 1918

Palatine — The Boogy man has come to town. In the person of the Pure Food Administrator, he arrived with all colors flying ready for action. He has his wires laid and expects to trip up some of the local farmers.

He is the man who takes auto trips in the wee small hours of the morning in search of farmers bringing in to the Chicago market under-aged veals, etc. He carries a kerosene oil can with him and what does not pass his inspection will never pass anyone.

His immediate purpose in town was the licensing of all the local dealers who purchase eggs of the farms. If a housewife finds a bad egg in the dozen which she received that morning from the store, she will be able to send the storekeeper to prison for life. In self defense the store keeper must see the certificate from the hen herself before he can accept the hen fruit. Incidentally the farmer will be compelled to use on his own table the small eggs for which he has been in the habit of receiving full price at the stores.

It is the hen laying union which got this new law passed. We understand they are working on a union label to be imprinted on each egg. Their next step will be the marketing of all hens who refuse to join the union.

WHEN A MAN will spend his honeymoon working in a harvest field, he is truly patriotic. Food Administrator Dr. F. A. Gibbs says that he cut 75 acres of wheat on a farm near Mendota in the past two weeks, besides doing other harvester work.

Some of our people are beginning to realize that this war is no joke. A Des Plaines boy deserted from Camp Jackson and got only 50 miles before being caught. He was sentenced to be shot so said reports, but said sentence was later suspended. Reports from Des Plaines also state that a former resident of Palatine is in jail on account of traiterous remarks and that his parents may be interned for the period of the war.

The Lincoln Chautauqua at Barrington begins Sunday afternoon and continues six days. The program this year is by far the best one ever given in that village, as every day is a feature number of special interest.

RAND ROAD has been opened to the traveling public from the Staples Corner (Kitty Korners) school house south. The contractor expects to complete his work within a short time. He has been building that road at lightning speed in spite of the difficulties he has encountered in the way of getting material on the job.

The American success in France is being felt here in Palatine, in the advent of boy babies, four of whom arrived here safely inside of five days, in spite of the submarines and the Kaiser.

July 25 a 9½ pounder knocked at the door of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Wessel.

July 28 a 9½-pound youngster was a welcome arrival at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Wiehrdt.

July 30, Martin Plate came down town with a broad grin announcing that a bouncing son had arrived at his home.

The day before a son arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Luerssen. A month ago, school census figures showed that baby girls far outnumbered the boys in this township. We are glad the mothers have found another way to help defeat the kaiser.

WEST NORTHFIELD — Lightning struck the large barn on the old John Allison farm Friday afternoon and fire quickly destroyed it and a second barn with a hay shed and buggy shed between. The directors of the Northfield Mutual Insurance Co. met Monday and agreed to pay their risk of about $2600.

A sad death occurred last week at the Sherman hospital Elgin. Miss Olga Bokelmann, the Roselle telephone operator, who had for several days been ailing with painful boils, was finally induced to consult the local physician. After several days of treatment, blood poisoning set in and on account of the eye being involved the doctor advised the father to take her to the hospital. An eye specialist from Chicago pronounced the case hopeless. Although being in the prime of her life, she time and again, expressed her desire to depart in order to be with her beloved, deceased mother. Thursday morning she passed away; she attained the age of 21 years. Her untimely death is mourned by her fiance, Mr. Emil Pfortmiller, her father, three brothers and six sisters.

The Arlington Heights Womans club met Tuesday to consider purchasing the Begeman building as a home for the Club Library. The vote against going any further with this proposition was unanimous. Among the reasons given were the price of the building being much more than the cash on hand; the fact that during war times is no time to spend individual cash or effort for anything other than winning the war; the fact that his building is on Railroad property and that it is poor business to own a building on leased land.

Miss Amanda Feltz was married to Reinhard Westphal, an instructor at Camp Beuregard, La., son of Mr. and Mrs. Emil Westphal of Itasca, August 1 at St. Peter Lutheran church.

ANDREW Horcher and family, Otto Spoerlein and family motored to Great Lakes Sunday and were lucky enough to get to Otto Spoerlein's home before the storm. It rained hard. Many machines were in the ditch between Long Grove and Spoerleins', but the little Fords crawled out.

Marie Christine Garms, nee Bode, beloved wife of William Garms was born in Germany in 1876. She came to Palatine in 1892 at the age of 16. She was given in marriage to Mr. Garms in 1894 and to this happy union seven children were born, of whom one preceded the mother in death. Mrs. Garms resided in Palatine since she came to this country except the 11 years the family resided in Oklahoma. She passed away July 28.

The northbound C & NW time freight was robbed early Tuesday by a gang of bandits who broke open five freight cars at the "Y" between Mt. Prospect and Des Plaines.

The time freight is made up at Proviso and enters the Wisconsin division west of Des Plaines where the train comes to a stop when the switches are opened and closed and it is thought the bandits boarded the train there. The greater part of the contents of five cars was taken and from evidence along the railroad the goods were dumped along the railroad east of Mt. Prospect, near Mt. Prospect depot and at Rohlwing road.

Miss Dorothy Timmermann of Palatine became the bride of Mr. William Kable, police officer of Mt. Prospect Tuesday.

ROBERT RYAN unexpectedly comes across Aldo Ray and Tina Louise making love in his barn. Scene is from the motion picture version of the controversial best-selling novel, "God's Little Acre." The United Artists release opens Friday at the Des Plaines Theatre.

Ann Sheridan Is Star at Playhouse

Beautiful Ann Sheridan makes her Chicago stage debut in "Kind Sir," the Norman Krasna comedy, at the Edgewater Beach Playhouse, August 4-16. She continues the summer's greatest array of stars, following Burgess Meredith, Walter Slezak and Melvyn Douglas, who closes in "Sweet and Sour," with two Saturday night performances, August 2.

Miss Sheridan plays an internationally-known wealthy actress who falls in love with a handsome wealthy American banker-diplomat, played at the Edgewater by Scott McKay, in a co-starring role. The diplomat, who is the darling of NATO as well as women, pretends that he is married but this does not deter the acress and the action of the comedy revolves around the situation.

The romantic comedy was played on Broadway by Mary Martin and Charles Boyer and had been filmed with Ingrid Bergman and Cary Grant in the roles played by Ann Sheridan and Scott McKay.

THE MOTION picture beauty has appeared in more than 250 films, with such stars as James Cagney, Gary Cooper, Humphrey Bogart, Errol Flynn and Cary Grant but until this engagement in "Kind Sir" she has never been seen on the Chicago stage. The heavy advance reservations indicate great interest in Miss Sheridan's performance.

"Kind Sir" is the fourth of five plays, each running for two weeks, at the Edgewater Beach Playhouse. Menasha Skulnik stars in "Uncle Willie" August 18-31.

At Beloit

Among the 24 graduate study awards given to 1958 graduates of Beloit college, two were won by area residents.

James M. Bilderback of 269 N. Benton, Palatine, received a teaching assistantship to the University of Wisconsin.

Bill L. Long, 338 S. Walnut st., Bensenville, was awarded a teaching fellowship at Dartmouth. (CC

At Illinois

Roger A. Chirpe, 615 Catino, Arlington Heights, will be among 64 members of the University of Illinois Varsity Men's Glee club to appear at the Brussels World's Fair next month.

The Glee club, popularly known as "The Singing Illini" will leave for Belgium August 22 via National Overseas airlines. From August 24-31 it will take part in the International Youth Choral program at Charleroi, near Brussels.

September 1 "The Singing Illini" will present a concert in the United States pavilion at the Fair. September 2-9 the club will make a concert tour of Europe, appearing at Munich, Heidelberg and Paris.

The club expects to return to campus September 12. Prof. Harold A. Decker is the conductor.

At Wisconsin

Edward D. Schumacher, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Schumacher, 403 N. Haddow, Arlington Heights, visited the University of Wisconsin campus during the past week to register for studies to be started with the opening of the university's school year in September.

Edward was taking advantage of the university's new advance registration-orientation program for new freshmen, now in its second year, which was started to help young people make the transition into university life easier both for themselves and their parents.

Under the new program, the young men and women visit the campus for at least a day, often with one or both parents, arrange for housing, take placement tests, meet student leaders and faculty members and register for their coming University studies. They can also make use of the student counseling services.

The new students return to the campus September 10 and classes begin September 15.

At Park

Charles E. Watson, son of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Watson, 302 N. Elmhurst rd., Prospect Hts., made the Dean's honor list the second semester last year at Park college, Parkville, Mo.

To achieve this honor a student must have a grade point average of 2.5 or better, equivalent to a "B" plus.

A junior this past year, Watson also made the Dean's honor list in the first semester. He is a member of the popular Park Singers, a group in demand for programs, and which goes on tour each year.

Watson is a graduate of Arlington high school.

At Southern Illinois

Kenneth E. Nelson, 644 N. Salem, Arlington Heights, is one of 97 students who have volunteered to serve as leaders during New Student Week September 19-24 at Southern Illinois university, Carbondale.

An annual event, New Student Week is designed to familiarize freshmen with the campus before the fall quarter begins.

At Illinois

Jon Racherbaumer, Rt. 1, Box 165, Palatine is among 140 gifted Illinois high school art pupils who have been awarded scholarships by the Illinois Federation of Women's clubs to summer art schools operated by the University of Illinois division of university extension.

The art schools will be July 27-August 2 and August 3-9 at Allerton Park, U. of I. conference center near Monticello.

Racherbaumer, who will attend the second school session, will be sponsored by the Lake Zurich Community Woman's club of District 12.

At Wisconsin

Stephen Hemmis, 3N637 Oakleaf, Bensenville, and Donald De Roche, 320 S. Iowa, Addison, were among some 800 high school students from throughout Wisconsin and the midwest participating in the 3-week summer music clinic held at the University of Wisconsin July 7-26.

During the clinic, two staff recitals and a grand finale concert are presented to the public. The students comprise nine bands, four choruses, and an orchestra. The program also offers general classes in music fundamental, appreciation, literature, conducting and special classes in piano, organ, and harp. (CC

WHEN TOMORROW ARRIVED...SAFELY

Everybody was pleased. Grandpa was fixed better than anyone thought. Besides the pension he got, it came out that he'd been making regular deposits for some time at Oak Park Federal Savings. And his account had accumulated earnings at the highest rate consistent with the maximum safety policy that 1,062 years of business experience has put into effect.

Well, everyone thought Grandpa and Grandma might have a hard time making ends meet. But thanks to his practical way and good horse sense . . . and to Oak Park Federal Savings . . . they were in better financial shape than most of the rest of the family.

Grandpa withdraws from his account whenever he pleases—his money is always available—and he doesn't hesitate to say that in all the world there is no finer, no nicer . . . no safer place to save.

Dean Greeners Now Living in Palatine

Miss Patricia Carolyn Addy became the bride of Dean Ebinger Greener, son of Mrs. Marvin C. Greener of Palatine, in an afternoon ceremony June 8 in Glasford Methodist church. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Russell A. Addy of Glasford, Ill.

The altar was decorated with baskets of white mums, gladioli and stephanotis and a background of palms and lighted candles as Rev. Ernest W. Reynolds read the double ring service. Ozzie Osborne was organist and Glen Duhs was soloist.

Designed by the bride and her mother, the bridal gown was of white embroidered nylon lace over net and satin styled with a long molded waist with a V neckline outlined with iridescent sequins. A full skirt with tiers of ruffles cascaded down the back and fell into a sweep train. The bride's fingertip veil of imported french illusion was held by a cap of lace and edged with tiny pearls.

Her jewelry was a pearl choker and earrings given to her by the bridegroom, and she carried a lace covered Bible, given to her by her late grandmother Cowser, topped with a white orchid and handkerchief of her aunt.

Mrs. Betty Schaffner attended her as matron of honor in white eyelet nylon sheer over orchid taffeta and net in a princess style with ballerina length skirt. She wore a matching picture hat, white gloves and carried a lace umbrella filled with yellow daisies.

The bridesmaids, dressed identical to the matron of honor, were Mrs. Dean Addy of Peoria and Mrs. Robert Addy of Glasford, both sisters-in-law of the bride. All the attendants wore pearl chokers and earrings, gifts of the bride.

The flower girls, Linda and Susan Addy, nieces of the bride, wore white embroidered nylon over net and nylon taffeta. Their dresses were trimmed with lace like that of the bridal gown and they wore rhinestone lockets, gifts of the bride, and head bands of stephanotis.

The bridegroom's brother, Jack, of Minneapolis was best man, and Charles Ost of Barrington and Ralph Greener of Crystal Lake were ushers. The bride's nephew, Charles Addy, was ring bearer.

At a reception for 200 which followed the ceremony the bride's mother was dressed in orchid and the bridegroom's mother in pink. Each wore a white corsage. Serving guests in the church hall were Diane Reutler, Helen Herold and Mary Sue Kinder, friends of the bride, and registering guests was Mrs. Joan Strickland of Palatine and gifts, Mrs. Dolores Ost.

A buffet dinner was served later in the home of the bride's parents after which the bridal pair left on a short honeymoon. They are now at home at 265 N. Oak, Palatine.

The bridegroom, a graduate of Palatine high school and Bradley university, is employed at Joseph K. Dennis Insurance Co., Chicago. The bride is a graduate of Glasford high school and attended Illinois State Normal university.

Quite Contrary by Mary

I Got Too Terribly Clever

The next time I get an idea I want someone to come up behind me silently and smash me smartly in the head. It will feel better than the consequences of one of my better ideas.

Little Darling, the youngest of four female offspring, had a birthday coming up and made quite elaborate plans for a party. With the scars of last year's party still throbbing painfully, I decided to make things much easier on myself. After all, pinning the tail on the donkey and dropping the clothespins in the milkbottle had begun to pall. Boredom set in last year before I had even run out of prizes.

So, this year I got too terribly clever. I would get them away from the old home environment. I would take them far away. Far, far away. To Kiddieland. Kiddieland would solve all my problems and all I would have to do is walk around and listen to girlish cries of glee and merriment.

Ha! They came. The watched the opening of the loot. They ate the ice cream. They accepted the favors. They got in the car. And, we went to Kiddieland.

Merrily, as we rolled along, they sang such old favorites as Ooh, ee, ooh, ah ah, ting tang, walla walla, bing bang, which, as I understand it, is the beginning of "The Witch Doctor." They also had quite a nice session of hand jive. This was all interspersed with small smatterings of "The Purple People Eater." All this is not to be confused with such new songs as "Down By the Old Mill Stream" and "When You Wore A Tulip." Gosh all Friday, these are 8-year-olds and they flip out songs I have never even heard of.

So we arrived at our destination and alighted from the chariot amid squeals of girlish laughter and cries of "I want to go on the ferris wheel." It just so happens that I get squeamish at heights over four inches from terra firma so I gave this chore to my helpers. Helpers consisting of older sisters. Helpers are so sophisticated that they only care for the roller coaster and the ferris wheel.

So I bought 100 rides and 99 of them were on the roller coaster and the ferris wheel with a small dab of pony rides thrown in as sop to 8-year-old tastes. Anyway, the attendants to the ponies were obviously of teenage so waiting for the young to go around was practically painless to helpers.

And, were they happy when it was all over? No. They listed all the things they had yearned to go on. They all gazed at me with eyes that spoke plainly of being underprivileged. They hated me. Which was all right. The feeling was mutual.

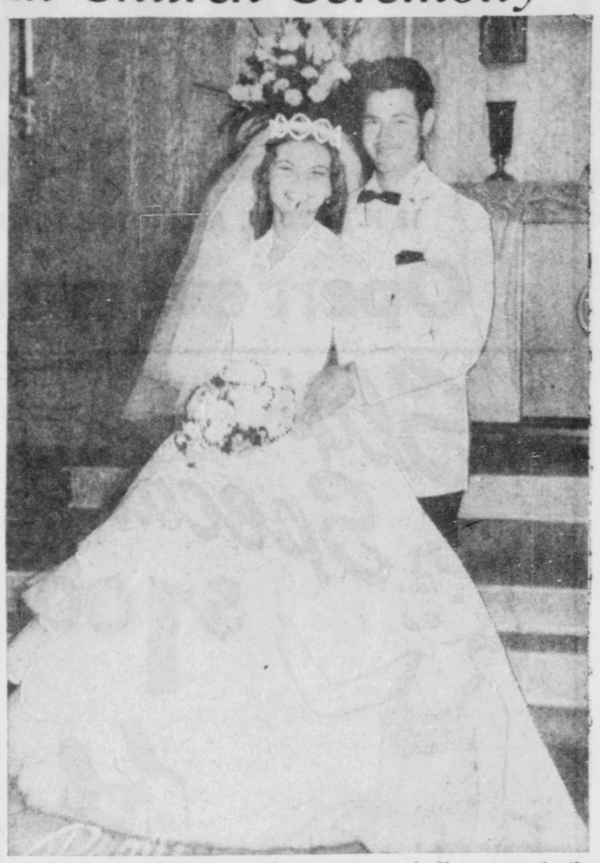
Palatine Couple Wed In Church Ceremony



Light green and white was the color scheme carried throughout the attire of the attendants at the June 28 wedding of Nancy Shelton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Shelton, Greenwood ave., Palatine, and Allen P. Israel, son of the Albert Koskelas, Franklin rd., Palatine. The couple was united in marriage by Rev. P. H. Fleischmann in Palatine's Christ Lutheran church in a double ring ceremony at 5:30 in the afternoon.

The bridal attendants came down the aisle in light green sheath dresses of chiffon taffeta with overskirts of embossed nylon, and they wore picture hats to match. Maid of honor Marilyn Israel, sister of the bridegroom, had a bouquet of tinted green carnations and ivy tied with gold ribbon. The bridesmaids, Barbara Hardman of Palatine and Mrs. Carol Bach, sister of the bridegroom, had white carnation bouquets tied with gold ribbon.

Janice Erdmann of Chicago, niece of the bridegroom, was flower girl in a floor length bouffant dress, the color matching that of the other attendants' gowns.

The bridegroom's attendants wore pale green summer formal jackets to compliment the bride's attendants. Best man was the bridegroom's brother, Raymond, and seating guests were Donald Schoenrock and Lloyd Anderson, both of Chicago. The ring bearer, Douglas Bach, was dressed in a white jacket. He is the nephew of the bridegroom.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor length bell skirted gown of alencon lace over satin. The skirt had tiers of nylon ruffles, and the bodice and a back sweep ending in a chapel train were alencon lace. Her fingertip illusion veil was held by a pearl crown, and she carried a bouquet of white carnations, stephanotis and ivy with an orchid at the center.

Organist for the wedding was Emmanuel Unrath of Decatur and soloist was Miss Marjorie Unrath, also of Decatur.

Two hundred guests were received at a buffet supper in the Arlington Heights VFW hall following the ceremony. Mrs. Shelton greeted them in lilac pink nylon lace over taffeta with a feathered hat to match and white accessories. Mrs. Israel chose rose beige embroidered nylon over taffeta with a feathered hat and accessories to match, and both mothers had corsages of white orchids.

The newlyweds are now at home in Norwood Park after a honeymoon in Wisconsin and Michigan. The bride, a 1956 graduate of Palatine high school, is working at the Illinois Bell Telephone Co. in Chicago. The bridegroom graduated from Luther North and attended Illinois Tech prior to entering the army for two years. He returned from overseas duty in May. (Jenart

Carole Weinacht, Now Mrs. Robert Johnson

The home of Judge L. D. Stitt Jr. in Inverness was the scene of a 6 p.m. double ring service June 7 in which Miss Carole J. Weinacht, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. Weinacht, 1002 Old Northwest hwy., Palatine, and Robert A. Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Johnson, 1112 W. Central rd., Arlington Heights, were united in marriage.

For her marriage, the bride chose a white silk over taffeta dress with small dots of pale blue with a fingertip veil. She also wore her great grandmother's pearls, which her mother gave to her before the ceremony. White carnations with small pink roses made up her bridal bouquet. Mr. Weinacht gave his daughter in marriage.

Only attendant to the bride was Miss Georgene Leluan of Palatine who wore a light blue chiffon over blue taffeta with a corsage of pale yellow baby mums.

THE BRIDE'S mother wore a pale blue silk print while the bridegroom's mother wore a pale green cotton. Both wore pink carnation corsages.

John Simpson of Palatine served the bridegroom as best man.

A wedding reception was held in the American Legion hall in Palatine after which Mr. Johnson took his bride on a week's wedding trip to Wisconsin. The couple is now residing at 123 N. Ela rd., Barrington.

The bride was graduated from Palatine township high school in June. Mr. Johnson was graduated from Arlington high school and is with North Western railway.

Variety of Artists At Ravinia This Week

Lionel Hampton, the "genius of the vibes," will present a large group of jazz artists to Ravinia Friday for an evening of exciting music to please all ages. He performed Wednesday evening to a large audience and was enthusiastically received. Hampton is internationally popular for his recordings and jazz concerts.

Guest director at the Saturday and Sunday evening concerts at the well known outdoor music theater will be Georg Solti, Budapest-born conductor of both symphony and opera. Saturday evening's concert will also star guest pianist, Eugene Istomin. This deeply sincere pianist plays with a purity of style and breathtaking beauty that is the delight of five continents.

ISTOMIN will again perform Tuesday evening when the concert will be conducted by Edouard Van Remoortel, celebrated Belgian conductor recently appointed to head the St. Louis Symphony. This will be his debut at Ravinia.

Van Remoortel also will direct the orchestra Thursday, Aug. 7, and will accompany Joseph Fuchs, guest violinist. Fuchs, a lifelong New Yorker, has won wide acclaim in Europe as well as America.

Wednesday evening the program will be given in the theater with a recital by Angna Enters, choreographer, dancer, writer and painter. Miss Enters' miming is considered a new art form, and she will present one of her most popular recitals Wednesday.

EVENING performances at Ravinia begin at 8:30 p. m. except Sundays, when 7:30 p. m. is the curtain time.

The third annual Ravinia Art exhibit will be held in the Casino each evening and has been expanded to include paintings, sculptures, arts and crafts by outstanding Chicago artists.

The Junior Infant Welfare Centre of Barrington has chosen "Potpourri" as the name of its resale shop which will open Friday, Aug. 15, at 117 S. Cook st. in Barrington, diagonally opposite the First National Bank. As the nearly-new shop will be operated on a volunteer basis, the income from the shop will be used to support Infant Welfare charities in the Chicago area.

The children's department will carry clothing and shoes for babies, girls and boys, in addition to children's furniture, buggies, tricycles, strollers and skates.

The ladies' clothing department will be supplemented with jewelry, evening dresses, maternity clothes and accessories such as sweaters, scarves and gloves.

THE ANTIQUE furnishings department will also feature small pieces of furniture and from time to time the shop will carry sale items from local stores.

Beginning August 15, Potpourri will be open every Thursday, Friday and Saturday from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. with the exception of Friday, when the shop will remain open until 9 p.m.

ALL MERCHANDISE in the resale shop will be received on consignment, the consignee sharing in the proceeds from the sale. Prices will be set by mutual consent of consignee and store committee.

The grand opening August 15 will be highlighted by a fashion show open to the public. Emphasis at this time will be placed on seasonal "back-to-school" items.

Mrs. R. A. Bauer Heads Infant Welfare Group

Mrs. R. A. Bauer of Plum Grove Estates, Palatine, was elected chairman of the newly-formed Palatine Junior Auxiliary of the Infant Welfare Society of Chicago when the group met July 24 in the home of Mrs. R. E. Boles, also of the Estates.

Founders' meeting of the group was held July 14 in the Quentin rd. home of Mrs. Richard Howell. Other committee chairmen include Mrs. R. L. Muchow, vice chairman, also in charge of publicity; Mrs. A. J. Gallagher, recording secretary; Mrs. J. J. Schumacher, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Boles and Mrs. Howell, ways and means; and Mrs. R. Schreier, station chairman and points.

Two members of the Chicago chapter will discuss the aims of the organization when the new group meets August 14 in the home of its new president.

Local College Girl Is Fashion Board Member

A local college girl Karen Bowen, 115 W. Central, Arlington Heights, will model campus fashions informally each day on the fourth floor of Marshall Field and Company's Oak Park store. She is a member of Field's college board of experts on the latest back-to-campus wear and represents Indiana university.

Students on the board, from colleges across the nation, are on hand daily in the "College Center" located on the fourth floor in the Oak Park store, to help collegians select the newest and most appropriate wardrobes for their special schools. These campus hostesses can be recognized by their gay uniforms, a forest green trapeze jumper worn with a pumpkin-colored blouse and matching shoes.

THEY OFFER up-to-date fashion suggestions to the girl off to campus for the first time and to the upperclassman looking for hints on how to spice her fall wardrobe.

This year, the "College Center" has a classic Grecian atmosphere created with a touch of whimsey. A host of mythological figures, including godesses draped in the latest campus fashions, are displayed throughout the "College Center."

William Greene Takes Bride in California

White gladioli, stock and chrysanthemums decorated St. Paul the Apostle church in Westwood, Cal. for a nuptial mass July 5 in which William C. Greene of Mt. Prospect, took as his bride, Miss Ann Dunn of Westwood. The couple met while the bridegroom was with the marines, stationed in California. He is the son of Mrs. Peter Jaeger, 111 S. Wa Pella, Mt. A BOUFFANT white chantilly lace gown, fashioned along princess lines with scalloped neckline and floor-length skirt, was chosen by the bride for her marriage. She also wore a fingertip veil held in place by an imported pearl crown. White carnations and yellow rose buds with a white orchid center, made up her bridal bouquet.

Mauve silk organza and lace was used for the ballerina gown worn by the bride's attendant, Maurine Parson of Los Angeles. Maurine carried a nosegay of tiny pink and white roses and wore a small headpiece to match her dress.

DAVE KASPAR of San Mateo, Cal., formerly of Arlington Heights, was the bridegroom's attendant.

Seventy-five guests attended the reception held in Brentwood, Cal. where Mrs. Dunn received in a powder blue silk sheath and Mrs. Jaeger in a rose beige peau de soie and lace sheath. Mrs. Dunn's corsage was a green variegated orchid and Mrs. Jaeger's, pink baby orchids.

After a 3-week honeymoon trip in northern California, the newlyweds are residing at 1666 Pratt blvd., Chicago. Mr. Greene is with CKG Associates in Des Plaines. Here Are Summer Ice Cream Ideas

If your ice cream ideas are getting summer-weary by now, here are some suggestions from University of Illinois foods specialist Mrs. Dorthy McIvor.

Ripple ice cream is a sure hit for both guests and family. Place one pint of ice cream, slightly softened, into an ice cube tray. Fold in or swirl through the ice cream any one of the following: chocolate sauce, crushed berries, crushed cookies or nuts. Refreeze.

Tray ice cream cakes are another company-family favorite. Line an ice cube tray with graham or cookie crust or cake slices. Spread with one pint of ice cream and refreeze.

YOU CAN MAKE ice cream snowballs on just a few minutes' notice. With a big spoon or ice cream scoop, spoon or scoop out balls of ice cream. Roll each in a coating of coconut, nuts or dry cereal. Top with sauce, fruit or jelly.

Sandwiches can take to ice cream, too. Spread graham crackers or large rolled cookies with jelly or chocolate sauce. Put them together, sandwich-fashion with a slice of firm ice cream between.

Fruit splits can be made to fit size of the appetite. Top a piece or slice of pineapple, peach, pear or banana with ice cream or sherbet and your favorite ice cream sauce. You might put raspberry sherbet on a pineapple slice and sprinkle a few raspberries over the top.

You don't need parfait glasses to make parfaits. Use sherbet or small iced tea glasses or make half-sized parfaits in fruit juice glasses. Just alternate layers of your favorite sauces with layers of ice cream. (Soc

Tasty Creole Dishes Find Favor with Kirby Family

VICKI LEE KIRBY watches carefully as her mother, Mrs. Walter W. Kirby, 307 N. Mozart, Palatine, prepares her famous recipe for creole dishes. The culinary "secrets" are shared this week with readers of Lois Seiler's "Successful Homemaking" column.

by LOIS SEILER

Creole dishes find favor in the Walter W. Kirby household, and the Oven Fried Chicken Creole recipe we are featuring today is a special family favorite.

This delicious dish is really a "meal-in-one" and easy to prepare, too. There is no top-of-the-stove cooking or spattering, for the whole dish is prepared in one pan and baked in the oven.

Even the rice, which is seasoned with onion and green pepper, cooks in chicken broth in the pan, while the chicken, which has been previously browned in the same pan in the oven, finishes baking over the rice.

TOMATO WEDGES garnish the top of this savory casserole.

Mrs. Kirby reports that though her husband is not particularly fond of chicken, he loves it prepared by this method which takes chicken out of the ordinary class and gives it special zest and flavor.

Because it is so hearty and satisfying, Mrs. Kirby usually accompanies the chicken creole with simply a tossed salad and dessert.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Kirby are active members of the Palatine Players. In the Players' production of "Time Out for Ginger," Mrs. Kirby took the leading role, while her husband was director.

This year Mrs. Kirby is treasurer of the group, as well as president of the Palatine Cotillion club and co-chairman of Ways and Means for the Palatine Junior Woman's club.

IN ADDITION to these activities, she also writes the Palatine Ridge News column for the Palatine Enterprise.

The Kirbys live at 307 N. Mozart in Palatine. They have two children: Kenneth, 9 years old, and Vicki, 5½.

Oven Fried Chicken Creole

¼ cup butter
1/3 cup flour
1½ teaspoons salt
1 teaspoon paprika
¼ teaspoon poultry seasoning
1/8 teaspoon freshly ground pepper.
2½ to 3½ pound frying chicken, cut up.
1 cup uncooked white rice
½ cup chopped green pepper.
½ cup chopped onion
1½ teaspoons salt
Little pepper
3 cups hot chicken broth
2 large, firm tomatoes, cut in wedges.

Place butter in 9 by 13 by 2 inch pan and let melt in 400 degree oven.

Into a paper bag put the flour and seasonings and shake chicken in it, a few pieces at a time.

Place coated pieces of chicken in melted butter, skin side down. Bake, uncovered, for 25 minutes. Remove chicken from pan.

Combine the uncooked rice, green pepper and onion. Mix with the melted butter in baking pan.

Place chicken over the rice, skin side up, and sprinkle with the 1½ teaspoons salt and little pepper. Pour the hot broth over all and arrange tomato wedges over the chicken.

Return to oven and bake an additional 45 minutes. Add more liquid, if necessary, during baking period.

★ Jim Conway, WBBM-TV's Television Star of "In Town Tonight", meets Mrs. Harper Richards of Chicago, Illinois

"Our kitchen stays so much cleaner...

and really, nothing looks as modern as an electric range!"

says Mrs. Richards

Modern automatic electric ranges mean less time wasted on kitchen drudgery. Mrs. Richards, partner in Harper Richards Associates, devotes much of the time and energy she saves to Interior Designing.

JIM CONWAY: I imagine a modern kitchen is important to the woman of the house. But do you run into this trend to electric cooking often in your work as an interior designer?

MRS. RICHARDS: Yes I do, Jim. And I have noticed a decided increase in the number of women who want not only an electric range . . . but an all-electric kitchen. Of course, it seems to me a modern electric range is really the first step toward modern electric living.

JIM CONWAY: Well, what do you consider to be the big advantages of electric cooking?

MRS. RICHARDS: My own experience tells me electric cooking is much cleaner. And cooler, too. Our oven doesn't heat up the kitchen. There are also many automatic features with the modern electric range that give a woman greater versatility as a cook. She can roast, broil, boil, deep-fat fry, grill, bake and barbecue—all automatically.

JIM CONWAY: And very economically. As you probably know, the average-size family can cook electrically for about 7¢ a day.

MRS. RICHARDS: Yes, and the woman of the house will spend a good deal less time in the kitchen in the bargain, Jim.

Every day, more modern women cook the modern electric way

Just Around The Corner From Patty McArdle

A Unique Place to Visit

Dear Peg:

It had been three years since I'd been to Honey Bear farm, but everything looked as fresh and new as it had the first time I was there. This lovely dining and buying place, with its bright blue trimmed buildings sprawling casually around a grassy square, was the perfect place to take Bridget's former teacher and Megan's former teacher and piano teacher.

We had been trying to plan this outing since school closed, but this weekend was the only one we all could agree on and how fortunate we were —Saturday was warm and bright with just enough cloudiness to make driving pleasant.

Megan preferred to stay home as she was right in the middle of making a "telephone," with string and two tin cans, that would reach from Wynn's house to ours—about 100 feet. However, Bridget wanted to go as soon as she learned that her dear kindergarten teacher was going to be there.

The hour-and-fifteen-minute trip was pleasant and uneventful with a surprisingly small amount of traffic, and we arrived in plenty of time to make our reservation. Considering the charming atmosphere and good food, I think that $2.25 is a modest price for a chicken dinner, including beverage and dessert.

Bridget finished first, of course, and asked to go outside. So, while we lingered over our second cup of coffee, Bridget went "investigating." Although she can't read, that child has an uncanny way of knowing what signs, etc., say, and in a few minutes she returned to the table with a request.

"Mama, there's going to be a puppet show about Thumbelina at 2 o'clock. May I go?"

I answered with the favorite mama's answer, "We'll see."

With that, she was off and out again.

Following lunch, we walked through the adjoining gift rooms filled with china, cards, and paper, and even some Christmas decorations. I picked up a cute little set of china mother French poodle and two puppies to surprise Megan with, for only one dollar. As we walked out the door and down the bright petunia-bordered walk toward the "Party Barn," we saw Bridget hurrying toward us from the direction of the "Children's House."

"Mama, I have something special to show you —it's very interesting—please come with me." Right at that moment, I noticed the sign that pointed in the direction of the puppet theater and asked Bridget if she wanted to go. Ridiculous question!

Following the walk around the garden shop, we came to the small barn which was the puppet theater. I paid Bridget's 35 cents admission and took her in to her seat. While she enjoyed the puppets, our guests and I went through the party and candy "barns" and on over to the candle shop, a most unusual little place and one completely new to me.

I have never seen candles dipped in the design of an oversized seahorse or cactus plant. A very striking effect was achieved with a candle molded in the shape of a brilliant red-orange campfire flame and placed within the limbs of a nicely-shaped, ivy-covered piece of driftwood.

Even though she enjoyed the puppet show, Bridget still remembered that she wanted to show us something in the children's shop, so off down the walk we went. Of all the lovely stuffed animals, dolls, and books and toys, Bridget wanted me to buy a fortune-telling black eight ball.

Upon asking a question, you turn the ball over and on the bottom an answer faintly appears.

The salesgirl seemed very glad to see me, and she related how Bridget had been in several times asking questions of the ball and getting the salesgirl to read the answers.

Most popular question—"Will Mama buy you for me?"

Most frequent answers—"Not likely," and "Try again later."

So she was more or less conditioned for my answer. I thought we could do better for two dollars, especially since she couldn't read the answers yet anyway. She settled for a nest of tiny china squirrels.

We also visited the "country kitchen," the "art gallery" where you may take lessons and the ladies' shop before coming home.

A most unique place to visit. There's lots of good food and fun at Honey Bear farm.

My love,
Patty.

Darlene Schoppe Now Mrs. Ron Schmidt

Two sets of grandparents were present when Miss Darlene Mary Schoppe, daughter of the Roger Schoppes of West Chicago, became the bride of Ronald Schmidt, son of the Charles Schmidts, 420 S. Grace st., Bensenville. The service took place April 12 in St. Michael's United Church of Christ with Rev. Trent Rockwell officiating.

Tall stands of white gladioli decorated the altar as Mrs. Nancy Matthys sang "The Lord's Prayer" and "I Love You Truly." Miss Beatrice Wilson was organist.

Seven attendants, including two flower girls, preceded the bride down the aisle. Maid and matron of honor were Miss Karen Schoppe and Mrs. Charles Schmidt Jr., who wore identical ballerina gowns of blue nylon sheer with satin midriffs. They carried carnations, dyed to match their gowns.

BRIDESMAIDS were the Misses Beverly Schoppe, Maraldine Schoo and Joyce Landmeier who were in yellow gowns, fashioned identically to the blue gowns. Their flowers were also in yellow. Donna Rae Rickert and Candice Lang, flower girls, also were in yellow and carried yellow flowers.

The bride's gown was of frosted chantilly lace with cascading alternate lace and pleated tulle ruffles on the back. The neckline of the gown was scalloped and a lace and pleated tulle headpiece held her fingertip veil in place. She carried a white orchid on a white Bible.

Best man was Charles Schmidt Jr. and ushers were Robert Schmidt, El-Roy Schoo, Donald Schmidt and Wallace Tasche.

A RECEPTION followed in the American Legion hall in West Chicago where Mrs. Schoppe received in a pink lace and satin dress. The bridegroom's mother chose a navy blue dress and both mothers wore white orchid corsages. The two grandmothers, Mrs. William Landmeier and Mrs. Elmer Schoppe, complemented their gowns with purple orchid corsages.

Mr. Schmidt and his bride honeymooned in Florida and are now residing in Elk Grove Village. (S (Jenart Studio

Wheeling Protests New Speed Limits

New speed signs, generally raising old limits, are cropping up throughout suburban Cook county, inciting some to violent concern, others to apathy.

One state-erected sign, which raised from 30 to 40 the legal rate of speed on Milwaukee ave., has brought gales of protests from residents of Wheeling. The newly-rated stretch of road goes through the heart of the business district.

LAST WEEK, Village President A. R. McIntyre and Police Chief Marvin Horcher sent letters of protest to the state highway department.

McIntyre said last Thursday the new speed is "absolutely unreasonable," that it is a serious threat to the safety of Wheeling residents, and that it was a contributing factor in three accidents, involving nine vehicles, since the new sign was posted two weeks before.

Russell Newell, Illinois traffic engineer for District 10 (Cook county), explained that the new speed laws are effected "only after a thorough study."

He said that one of the major factors in raising speed rates was the speed of motorists themselves. Cars traveling on a stretch of road under survey are clocked by radar, and if 75 per cent of the cars are going 40 miles an hour, that will be the new legal speed — road conditions, grading, and curves being considered.

NEWELL EXPLAINED that the majority of motorists know the speed at which they may travel in safety. He said this was consistent with studies made by the American Traffic Safety institute, the University of Illinois, and Illinois traffic engineers.

In conjunction with the survey being made by the state highway department, the county, also, is making a study. Both departments are following provisions of the 1957 state speed law which require a survey if speeds other than 30 in an urban district and 65 in a non-urban area are in effect.

Leo G. Wilkie, county traffic engineer, expects speed limits to go up "in general." After the studies are completed, he said, they will be presented to the county board of commissioners at the August meeting. If the board approves, the recommendations are sent to the state for final approval. If the state concurs, the signs will be set up.

The county surveys will be completed in one month, and studies of the state highways will be finished Sept. 15.

MOUNT PROSPECT Police Chief George Whittenberg said engineers with radar equipment surveyed traffic on Lincoln st. last week, and are presently on Prospect, between Emerson and Mt. Prospect rd.

He said village officials are expecting some limits to be raised and are "concerned."

Arlington Heights Police Chief L. W. Calderwood reported that E. Euclid, a state route, had been raised from 30 to 35 miles an hour around the first of June. This stretch is at the outskirts of town.

He said that no other alterations had been noted, and that the county had not started their survey up to that time (Thursday).

Chief Ed Clifford, Elk Grove Village, reported no changes.

Palatine Police Chief Don Foxworthy was not available for comment. (B8

ICC Examiner Recommends Milwaukee Road Fare Hike

A fare increase averaging 42 per cent for Milwaukee Road commuters has been recommended by Interstate Commerce Commission Examiner Burton Fuller in Washington.

The recommendation called present Milwaukee Road fares "abnormally low and unjust to the railroad," it was reported.

FULLER SAID the railroad lost $2,413,854 on its suburban passenger service in Illinois for the year ending last October 31.

The new fare increase would affect about 16,000 daily passengers on two lines — one west to Elgin and the other, north to Fox Lake and Walworth, Wis.

The Elgin line serves Roselle, Itasca, Franklin Park and Elmwood Park. The line running north serves Morton Grove, Glenview, and Northbrook. Both lines serve stations in Chicago.

Exceptions to Fuller's findings may be made by commuters or local governments within the next 20 days. The full commission would act after hearing these.

THE U.S. SUPREME court last January cancelled a 22 per cent fare increase for Illinois commuter fares on the line.

The high court ruled the ICC had failed to take into account the railroad's total Illinois business, including freight revenues. A rehearing was ordered and resulted in Fuller's ruling.

The rehearing was held in Chicago where opposition to the railroad's proposal came from the Milwaukee Road Commuters' Association. Attorneys for the association — out of town Monday — earlier indicated that they would go back to court to fight any increase.

AT THE REHEARINGS, the Illinois Commerce Commission declined an invitation to provide an examiner to sit with Fuller. Instead it joined the commuters' group in fighting to keep the interstate commission from fixing new rates.

The Illinois commission wants to protect its own jurisdiction over fares entirely within the state. (B8
